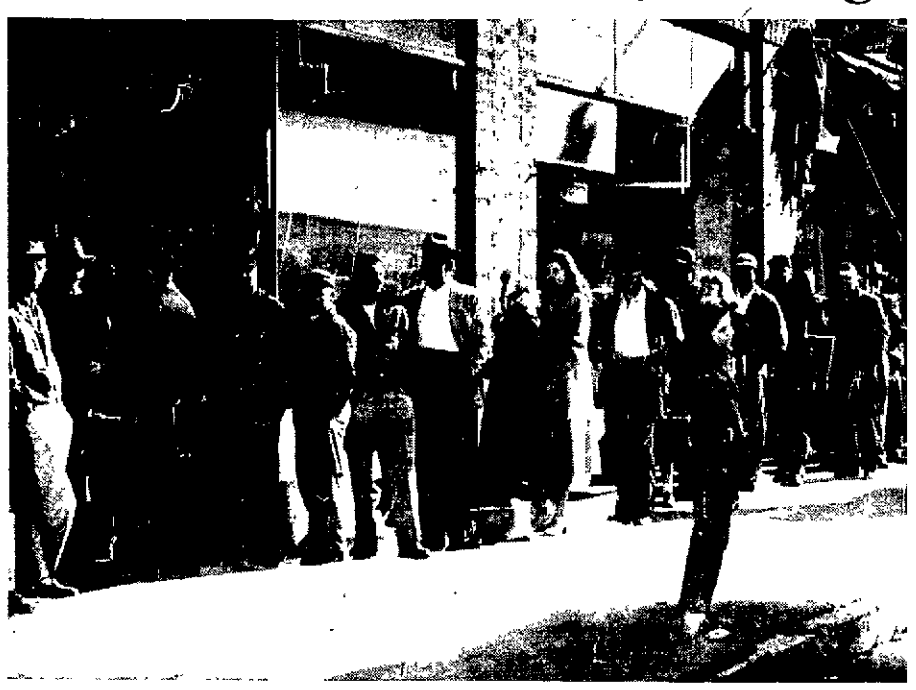
Auto Owners Rush for Tags



WITH TODAY THE LAST DAY to purchase 1957 vehicle license plates, a steady line of drivers crowded the Marion License Bureau at 280 W. Center St. Shortly after the office opened at 9 a.m., this line was formed and it continued to increase during the day. Although the deadline date for changing plates is at midnight Sunday, March 31, today will be the last chance for drivers to obtain their new plates since the bureau will not be open on Sunday. Mrs. Ila Hall, deputy registrar, has announced the office will be open until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Rayburn Not Happy With Ike Proposal

Declares 'Temporary President' Idea May Give False Impression

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) reportedly has told President Eisenhower that if he makes a personal request for "temporary presidency" legislation, people will think he plans to give up active presidential service.

An informed source, who declined to be quoted by name, said today Rayburn told this to Eisenhower Friday during a White House conference with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders. Eisenhower was said to have replied that he didn't see how such an inference could be drawn.

Proposes Amendment

At this conference, Eisenhower proposed a Constitutional amendment to authorize the Cabinet to decide by majority vote when the vice president should assume temporarily the duties of a disabled President who was unable or unwilling to make the decision himself.

Rayburn opposed the idea strongly. Other congressional leaders voiced more guarded reactions, but none indicated enthusiasm for the Eisenhower plan.

The Constitution provides that the vice president shall take over the duties of the President in the event of the President's resignation, ouster, death or disability. But it does not spell out how a decision is to be reached on when a President is disabled, nor who should make the decision.

After Eisenhower's proposal was announced Friday Rep. Keating of New York, senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, introduced a bill to provide for a commission to pass on whether a President is disabled. Such a commission would be made up of members of Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court.

Difference of Opinion

There is a difference of opinion over whether the Constitutional gap should be plugged by a bill or by a Constitutional amendment. And there are those who, like Rayburn, feel there is no need for any action.

In view of the wide range of opinions on the question, Democratic leaders were reported to have agreed informally that nothing will be done at this session. However, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said Friday the matter is of "sufficient importance that Congress may very well act this year on it."

The informant who told of what went on at the conference said Eisenhower joined in a laugh that followed Rayburn's blunt expression of opinion. But Eisenhower is understood to have heeded the Texan's advice not to send Congress a special letter asking for presidential disability legislation.

Instead, Atty. Gen. Brownell will go before a House Judiciary Subcommittee Monday to spell out the administration proposal.

Labor Leaders Awaiting Teamsters' Action After Dave Beck's Suspension

OBJECTS OF COURT FIGHT. Richard, 10, George, 9, and Paul Kozmin, 7 (left to right), three brothers born in a German DP camp after World War II, and their brother, eight-month-old Peter, born in Chicago, became subjects of international interest Friday when the Russian embassy in Washington revealed it is trying to gain custody of the boys to send them to Russia, former home of the parents. The three boys have lived in foster homes since 1953 when both parents suffered mental breakdowns and were hospitalized. None of the boys has ever seen Russia. Judge John H. Clayton Jr. will rule on the case next month. (UP Telephoto)

Union Head Appears Set To Fight On

Major Investigation Of Affairs Ordered By AFL-CIO Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of organized labor today awaited word on whether Dave Beck's teamsters will back him or dump him in the wake of his suspension as an AFL-CIO chieftain.

Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, gave every appearance of being determined to fight it out.

Investigation Ordered

His troubles mounted on the heels of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's action Friday suspending him as one of its members and as an AFL-CIO vice president.

The council — top command of the 15-million member AFL-CIO — ordered a full scale investigation by the federation's Ethical Practices Committee into charges that Beck has brought "the labor movement into disrepute." This probe also would cover corruption allegations against several other high Teamsters officials, some of whom are under indictment on various charges.

Meanwhile, Senate Rackets Committee sources said they are not "half through" investigating Beck's complex financial dealings, but may not call him back for quizzing unless he agrees to talk. They said other witnesses and documentary evidence could tell most of the story.

Has Nothing To Say

The AFL-CIO Council's move against Beck came after he invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination in refusing to tell the Rackets Committee about his finances. The Senate investigators say he turned to his personal use more than $320,000 in Teamster funds.

If it follows past practice, the AFL-CIO Council is likely to give the 1½ million member union an opportunity to oust certain of its officers. The penalty for not do-

Stafford Quits Post as Fire Captain Here

Veteran Ends 42-Year Career; Will Become Deputy State Marshal

Retirement of Capt. Ora C. (Mike) Stafford from the Marion Fire Department and his appointment as a deputy state fire marshal was announced today by Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow.

Capt. Stafford submitted his resignation to the safety-service director and Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt Friday "with deep regret." It marks the end of a 42-year career on the department.

He asked that his resignation become effective on April 21 and that his retirement pension begin on the same day.

Chief Sifritt said today that Capt. Stafford will be on a three-week vacation beginning Monday and will still be carried on the roles of the fire department until midnight April 20.

Not Out of Field

Even though he is retiring from the city fire department, Capt. Stafford will not be completely out of fire fighting.

He has been appointed to the position of deputy fire marshal in the state fire marshal's office effective April 21. His appointment to this position was confirmed in a letter to Mr. Bigelow from Oliver P. Bolton, head of the state department of commerce of which the state fire marshal's office is a division.

As a deputy state fire marshal, Capt. Stafford will inspect public buildings in a seven-county area to make certain that state fire regulations are being obeyed. His residence will remain in Marion although he will be working out of the Columbus office

Chief Sifritt expressed disappointment in Capt Stafford's resignation from the fire department, noting that he has been the captain in charge of the Central Station for the last 12 years and has been acting chief whenever the chief was absent. Chief Sifritt praised him as "an efficient fireman and a good officer."

Examination Due

Capt. Stafford's resignation will require scheduling of a civil service promotional exam to fill the vacancy and a second examination for appointment of a new fireman to the department to fill the vacancy created by the promotion.

Capt. Stafford first joined the city fire department on April 17, 1915 and was first assigned as a fireman to the Mark St. station. He later was transferred to the W. Center St. station and late in 1919 was transferred to the Central Station. Early in 1920 he was promoted to captain and was reassigned to the W. Center St. station as captain in charge. He remained there until 1944 when he

Witness Saw Captive

Iranians Pick Up Kidnapers' Trail

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A U.S. embassy spokesman said today police searching for kidnaped Mrs. Anita Carroll have found a witness who said he saw a "foreign lady" traveling on a mule with bandits and their families near the Iran-Pakistan border.

Police and imperial troops are pressing their search for Mrs. Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., in rough desert country in southeastern Iran. Outlaw tribesmen seized her Sunday night after killing her husband, another U.S. aid official, and two Iranians.

Abandonment Denied

The embassy disclosed the police report in denying rumors that Mrs. Carroll had been abandoned by her captors. The report said the searchers were following a trail of paper and clothing, presumably left by Mrs. Carroll, when they found her empty suitcase and came across the witness.

The embassy spokesman said the witness "claimed to have seen a foreign lady on a mule, traveling along with the women and children of the bandits in the desert toward the southeast Iran-Pakistan border."

The witness said the woman he saw was not tied and was "not looking sick," adding:

"The blonde white-faced foreigner did not have any difficulty and had no signs of injury."

$10,000 Reward Offered

The governor general of Mikran province in southeast Iran has offered a $10,000 reward to "everyone giving any firm and positive report on Mrs. Carroll."

The watch on the border dividing Iran and Pakistan already had been tightened when the widespread search began for Mrs. Carroll. Iranian authorities wise in the ways of life of the semicivilized Tangeorkheh desert tribesmen had said it was likely that she was being hidden by the gang until it could smuggle her to the coast and send her to Arabia or Pakistan. They said they believed she had not been killed by her kidnapers because she would bring a high price on the slave market in towns on the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman.

The Pakistan was asked earlier to help in the search.

The embassy statement came shortly after the Iranian government announced it would let Mrs Carroll's kidnapers go unpunished if they will free her unharmed.

Prepared To Pay Ransom

The amnesty offer was coupled with a U. S. embassy announcement that it was prepared to pay any amount of ransom for the release of the pretty 35-year-old woman.

Officials in Washington said that if there were any need for the United States to participate in paying ransom, the money could be made available from the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) which runs the U.S. aid program in Iran.

Half a Million Workers Join British Strike

LONDON (AP) — Half a million factory workers joined Britain's "snow ball" strike today, bringing to 1,700,000 the number of men idle in the general machinery and shipbuilding industries.

The progressive steps by which the 40 - Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions are extending the strike today hit the London industrial area. About a fifth of Britain's factory production is concentrated in the area.

About 1,000 plants were slowing to a halt. Most plants normally close Saturdays, so the impact of the latest extension of the strike will not be felt fully until Monday.

Today's new walkouts involved plants making aircraft, motor cars, electrical equipment, car accessories and many domestic appliances. Not affected were the Ford Motor Co. and its big subsidiary, the Briggs body building plant at Dagenham. They have separate agreements with the unions.

Newsmen Outdistanced

Ike's Speedy Auto Ride Draws Blast by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) today criticized what he termed "evident disregard of the speed laws and elemental traffic safety" during President Eisenhower's drive to Gettysburg, Pa., Friday.

Neuberger's comment was made in an interview after reporters accompanying the President said Eisenhower was driven to his Gettysburg farm at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. The car was driven by a Secret Service man.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) said that was "too fast for anybody." He said in a separate interview that perhaps Eisenhower should "take to the air, where there is less traffic."

Eisenhower made the 80 mile trip in 1¾ hours, with his car slowing only for an occasional dip in the road or a railroad track. Reporters, in separate cars were left behind when they were flagged down to the 55 mile speed limit by a Montgomery County, Md., police car. No arrests were made.

When the squad car turned back at the county line, newsmen had to drive 95 to 100 miles an hour to catch up with the President. They are assigned to keep him in sight at all times.

Neuberger said such speed by the presidential car was "ironic" since he said billboards are spread across the country bearing Eisenhower's picture and an appeal to motorists to drive safely.

Eisenhower went to his farm for a weekend of rest and relaxation.

A Secret Service agent said Friday night there was no special reason for the speed Friday, except that the roads were rather clear.

Jet Explodes; Two Die, Two Jump to Safety

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A giant B52 jet bomber, costing 8 million dollars, exploded in a "bright ball of flames" Friday, killing two crew members as it crashed into a farm pasture about 15 miles north of here.

Two other crewmen parachuted to safety. Both were hospitalized, one of them in critical condition.

All were Boeing civilian employes on an experimental flight from Wichita, Kan The dead were identified as: Ross B. Patrick, 37, pilot, Wichita, and John W. McCort, 32, navigator, Mulvane, Kan.

Charles P. Craven, 34, Wichita, co-pilot, suffered critical injury to the brain. Earl C. Reed, 30, Wichita, technical observer on the flight, had minor lacerations

Debris rained over a two-square mile area. The plane exploded only a half mile from Skiatook, a small northeastern Oklahoma community. The shock from the explosion blasted out half the store windows in downtown Skiatook and broke dishes in homes.

The craft is the Air Force's largest jet bomber and is powered by eight engines.

4 Killed in Bus Crash

TAIPEI (AP)—A bus plunged off a highway near Taipei Friday and tumbled down a 150-foot embankment. Three men and a teenage girl were killed. Forty-five persons were injured.

Judge Ponders Fate of Sons Of Soviet Pair

Parents Want Boys, Now Wards of Court, To Return to Russia

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago Family Court judge must decide whether a Russian-born couple should be given custody of their three sons, under court supervision since 1953, and take them to the Soviet Union.

George and Nabejda Kozmin, former Russian slave laborers who were married in a displaced persons camp in Germany, want to return to Russia. They want to take with them their sons, all born in the camp in Aschaffenberg, and a fourth son, who was born in Chicago and is an American citizen.

Wards of Court

Russian embassy officials are aiding the couple in their fight to regain custody of their three sons. The boys were made wards of the Family Court in July 1953 when both parents entered Chicago State Hospital after mental breakdowns.

The three boys, Richard, 10, George, 8, and Paul, 7, live at a children's home in suburban Lake Villa. The other child, Peter, born last August, lives with his parents.

Edward J. Nerad, chief Cook County probation officer, said the Kozmins, who came to this country in 1950 as displaced persons, sought to regain their sons' custody last December but their appeal was turned down by Judge John H. Clayton Jr.

Appeal to Embassy

The Kozmins, Nerad said, then appealed to the Russian embassy in Washington to help them in their court fight. Nerad said Fedor Solomatin, a representative of the Russian Embassy, has contended the Family Court has no jurisdiction over Russian citizens and has demanded release of the children.

"Our chief interest," Nerad said, "is in seeing that the children have proper care Our information is that the parents cannot yet give that care"

Deadline for filing is 4:30 p.m. today. Both the auditor's office and treasurer's office will be open until 4:30 p.m. to accommodate persons filing last-minute returns.

Mr. Clements estimates the total number of returns to be filed at between 4,200 and 4,500. Returns filed after 4:30 p.m. today will be subject to penalty. He said penalties will not be imposed on returns that are mailed and postmarked March 30.

Marquess Resigns

Cyprus Issue Splits Cabinet in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focussed attention today on a cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came Friday night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as Lord President of the Council.

Quits Second Post

Salisbury also quit as political controller of Britain's atomic energy development. Macmillan's statement said the Earl of Home, commmonwealth relations secretary, will take over as Lord President and the Prime Minister himself will assume the atomic energy post.

Informed sources said Salisbury was backed by some other ministers in his opposition to the release of Makarios

Salisbury, 63-year-old former foreign minister, was believed to have been one of the masterminds in the Conservative Party's efforts to find a successor for Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister. Macmillan was named to the post Jan. 10, two hours after Salisbury had spent 60 minutes talking with the Queen.

In announcing his resignation, Salisbury sent the Prime Minister a strong note scoring Makarios' release as "neither wise nor timely." He made clear in his letter that he would continue to support Macmillan's government on other issues.

Macmillan expressed "grief" over Salisbury's resignation but stood fast by his government's Cyprus policy and the release of the archbishop. "I am convinced that this act of generous statesmanship will reap its reward," Macmillan said.

Refuses To Negotiate

From Mahe in the Seychelle Islands where he had been exiled, Makarios said he would refuse to negotiate with Britain to settle the Cyprus rebellion until he is allowed to return to the Mediterranean isle. Although free to leave the Seychelles, Makarios is prevented by Britain from returning to Cyprus.

The Greek-Cypriot majority population on Cyprus has demanded that British rule be ended and the island united with Greece. The EOKA underground organization has been waging a campaign of violence to oust the British. Britain has offered the islanders more self-government but has said violence must be ended before steps can be taken toward that objective.

Conditions on Cyprus were reported back to normal today after wild rejoicing and celebrations by Greek Cypriots on the release of Makarios.

Student Dies in Crash

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP) — Ray William Dodson, 17, Fairland High School junior from nearby Proctorville, was killed Friday night when struck by an auto on Ohio 7 north of here.

'Old and Weary' Goes Under

Plunged in Bankruptcy, New York Railroad Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York, Ontario and Western Railway died at midnight Friday night at the age of 80 after a lingering bankruptcy.

The cause of death: Her income couldn't catch up with her outgo.

Right to the end the mourners thought the little "Old and Weary" railroad would somehow recover. At the bedside was as staggering an array of creditors as any 541-mile line ever had. Bigger railroads would have gulped at her 100 million dollar pile of debts. She fought to the end.

The New York State Civil Defense Commission Friday reaffirmed its previous ruling that the road was not essential to civil defense New York Gov. Averell Harriman had signed a special bill designed to enable the commission to operate the road.

The facts about her are quickly told: She ran from Oswego, N.Y., at the eastern end of Lake Ontario down to New York Harbor, with a few spur lines, among them one to the hard coal fields around Scranton, Pa. The Midwest freight that she was built to handle from the lakes, back in the days of the bustle and the hat pin, died away. The hard coal business died away. Finally, she died too, 20 years after she went broke.

Over those 20 years a series of federal trustees tried to staunch the flow of red ink. She meandered through some of the prettiest mountains and lush farm lands in New York, but missed the major cities whose industries might have saved her.

Union Invests Million Dollars In Race Tracks

CLEVELAND (AP) — One million dollars of Teamsters' Union pension fund money has been invested in two Cleveland race tracks.

But James R. Hoffa, head of the Central Conference of Teamsters, said the loan was made on "the real estate, not on the tracks."

Confirming a report Friday that the loan was made to Cleveland Raceways, Inc., a month ago Hoffa said the land the two tracks are located on is valued at 4.5 million dollars.

A spokesman for the track operators estimated the value of the properties and other physical structures involved as "in excess of five million dollars."

Raceways operates Cranwood Race Course, a half-mile track, and Thistle Down Park, a one-mile oval track with a grandstand that seats 25,000.

Hoffa was reached in Detroit a few hours after he pleaded innocent in Washington to charges of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of a Senate committee investigating rackets in the labor and management field.

Sheldon B. Guren, attorney and secretary of Cleveland Raceways, identified Hoffa as one of the fund trustees with whom the deal was made. He said he believed the name of the pension fund was the Southeast Area-Central State Pension Fund.

Calling the loan "an ordinary business deal," Guren said it is backed by a 6 per cent first mortgage which will be repaid in installments of roughly $33,000 per quarter for 10 years. He said the loan would earn some $30,000 for the union.

Heavy or Hollow?

A Sermonette

By REV. CLYDE R. WENDELL

Pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church

If any man will come after me let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." Matt. 16:24

An American business man went to Oberammergau to witness the Passion Play, given just before the outbreak of World War II.

Enthralled by this great drama which depicts the story of the cross, he went backstage at the conclusion of the play to meet Anton Lang, who played the part of the Christus. Our American friend had equipped himself with an expensive camera which he was eager to use. Abruptly he snapped the picture of Anton Lang, much to Mr. Lang's discomfort.

Then looking about the stage for something more to shoot with his camera, he saw away over in the corner the great cross which Mr. Lang had carried up the hill to Calvary in the play. Quickly turning to his wife he said, "Here dear, you take my camera. I'm going over and lift up the cross. When I get it up on my shoulder, you snap my picture carrying the cross. Won't that be a novel and exciting picture to send home to our friends in America?"

HE SAW THAT Mr. Lang was frowning severely at his brusque irreverence, and said, "You don't mind do you, Mr. Lang?" "This is very unusual" protested Mr. Lang, but before he could say more the man had hurried over beside the cross. He stopped down to lift it to his shoulder, but he could not budge it one inch off the floor — the cross was made of heavy iron-oak beams.

Puffing with amazement the man turned to Mr. Lang and said, "Why, I thought it would be light. I thought the cross was hollow. Why do you carry a cross that is so terribly heavy?"

Mr. Lang drew himself up to his full height and replied with compelling dignity and rebuke, "Sir, if I did not feel the weight of His cross, I could not play His part."

Neither can you, neither can I, neither can any man be the full-orbed Christian Christ expects us to be without assuming the full weight of our cross and following Him in the "fellowship of His sufferings."

IN ENGLAND a few years ago, we are told, a discerning observer said that the tragedy of the English Church, and it might well be said of the American Church also, is the loss of the possessive pronoun. Uncounted millions in the world say "God" and "Christ" and "Cross" and "Bible," but we do not have enough people who out of a personal and transforming experience say my God, my Christ, my Cross, my Bible. The tragedy of the church is the loss of the possessive pronoun. We have too many who live in the twilight of admiration, but who never come into the noontime of a great confession, who try to carry a sham cross and know nothing of its true weight, never openly acknowledging that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and their Saviour.

The late Bishop Quayle was an intimate friend of John Burroughs, the famous naturalist, who was not a Christian as we measure Christians. One day John Burroughs passed away and when Bishop Quayle heard of the death of his friend, he said, "Poor John, he loved the garden, but he never met the Gardener."

May I remind your heart and mind, at this point, it is much easier to know the things said about the Christ than to know His cross; it is much easier to know those things than it is to know Him about Whom they are said. It is so much easier for a person to be orthodox by reciting a creed or conforming to a ritual or performing a ceremony or giving out statements than it is to bring his total life under the sway and the complete mastery of the Christ of the cross.

A VERY BRILLIANT and forceful woman said, "All my life I've been a go-getter — I've gotten what I wanted. Then suddenly it all turned to ashes. I saw it all done for myself. My religious work all had a self-reference—it was to dress me up as pious and devoted. I've never said, 'O God, you've got me.' It was always: 'O God, I've got you.' I have never surrendered this ugly self. And now today I'm inwardly limp, my self-confidence gone; I'm in the dust."

But the next day she said, "I'm new. I'm resurrected. I'm alive again. Yesterday I was in the depths; today I'm in the heights. God is filling every fiber of being with power."

Why? She exchanged the hollow cross for a real one. She changed from self - assertion to self-surrender and when she did this it brought self - realization. Just as Christ could not make the redemption of the world possible without His cross, we can never make redemption possible and personal without our cross and the crucifixion of self upon it.

Conservation Is Called 'Everybody's Business'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jack W. Welsh believes that conservation is "everybody's business" and education of both adults and youngsters is needed to safeguard prosperity as it is affected by sound conservation practices.

Welsh, Warren, made his remarks as the ninth convention of the Ohio Conservation Congress—of which he is a past president—opened here Friday night.

In fast-growing new communities, Welsh warned, we must plan both recreation and subsistence on what land and waters we have left.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Stay Alive All Your Life

I know a man who was president of an important bank until, at 52, he was forced out by internal politics and found himself jobless. Surprising as it may seem in a banker, it was not long until he was broke. His first reaction was panic—he had two children to keep in college and many other obligations.

Dr. Peale

Mixed with his panic was hatred for the men who had forced him out and put put him in this unfortunate position. And, finally, he yielded to utter despair.

In desperation, he came to my church, asking for advice and help. He had heard, he told me, that faith could work miracles. What could it do for him, he asked?

"Yes," I said, "faith does work miracles, but in no magical manner. It only happens as we cooperate with God. The first step is to empty out all that hate. Pray for those men instead of hating them. Your ill will only corrodes your soul and impedes the channels through which creative spiritual power flows. You need to think clearly and act rationally, which you can never do as long as you allow hate to emotionize you.

"THEN," I continued, "you must conquer fear by putting your problems confidently in God's hands, believing that He will guide you in the right direction."

He kept coming to church and trying to practice the principles I taught. But things got worse and worse for him. Finally, he was so badly off financially that he and his wife actually had to go out into the country to pick blueberries which they might exchange for groceries. And, strangely enough, it was at this point that what I had been telling him began to have real meaning for him. Sometimes we have to touch bottom in order to touch the top spiritually. At any rate, it worked that way in this man's case.

This is what he told me sometime later: "Formerly, my wife and I were so busy we became almost strangers to each other. But picking blueberries on opposite sides of a high bush helped us really to know each other. Her smile, the loveliness of her soul, the wonderful things she said, and the loyal way she stood by me built me up. We found God and each other in a blueberry patch!"

TODAY THIS MAN has built up a fine new life. He heads a small town bank and is a valuable member of his church and community. His advice is particularly valued by those who consult him, for his own experiences have given him a working knowledge of the power of faith in the affairs of men

The story of this banker is one of the many true stories of people who have been helped by faith that I have included in my latest book. When I turned the manuscript in to my publishers, they and — and all the people we could ask to help us—spent a very considerable amount of time deciding on a title for this book. In trying to arrive at a decision on the title, I asked myself what all these people whose stories I had told have in common.

Then, the answer came to me. All these people had learned, through faith, how to stay alive all their lives—how to act every day of their lives so that, come what might, they would achieve lasting satisfaction and real fulfillment. And, so, I decided to call my new book, "Stay Alive All Your Life," and it has just been published under that title.

You can learn to stay alive—in every sense of that word—all your life as you acquire the habit of belief, belief in God, belief in yourself, and belief in life itself. The Bible says, "With God all things are possible." And with His help, you can make your life worthwhile. You can stay alive all your life.

Collection To Be Taken for Bishops' Relief Fund Here

Collections will be taken at all the masses tomorrow, Laetare Sunday, in St. Mary Catholic Church and in parishes throughout the United States for the annual Bishops' Relief Fund.

For the 15th year the bishops are making an appeal for at least five million dollars to carry on the relief work of Catholic agencies in countries where millions of exiles, refugees, displaced persons and victims of war and aggression are suffering.

Contributions of Catholic people in the dioceses of this country last year made it possible for the Catholic Relief Services and the National Catholic Welfare Conference to assist in the resettlement of 33,400 refugees in new lands of freedom and opportunity, and enabled the Catholic relief agencies to aid some 43 million needy men, women and children with food, clothing and medicine in the amount of 855 million pounds valued at $129,000,000.

The relief program is carried on in 40 countries around the globe through the Laetare Sunday contributions. The two agencies provide the basic support of the largest overseas aid program under private auspices and so effective and widespread have the operations become that the U. S. Government, other governments and inter-governmental organizations and private organizations gave last year food, goods and financial support valued at $147 million.

Laetare Sunday is a halting place in the midst of the Lenten observance. Dalmatic and tunicle are worn by the priests, and the altar is decorated with flowers. Rose vestments, derived from the blessing of the golden rose, may be worn.

Man Shot by Dog On Georgia Hunt

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Ever been shot by your dog?

Charles Gilbert Havis, 15, has.

Sheriff's Deputy Harry L. Harris said this is the way the unusual accident happened Friday:

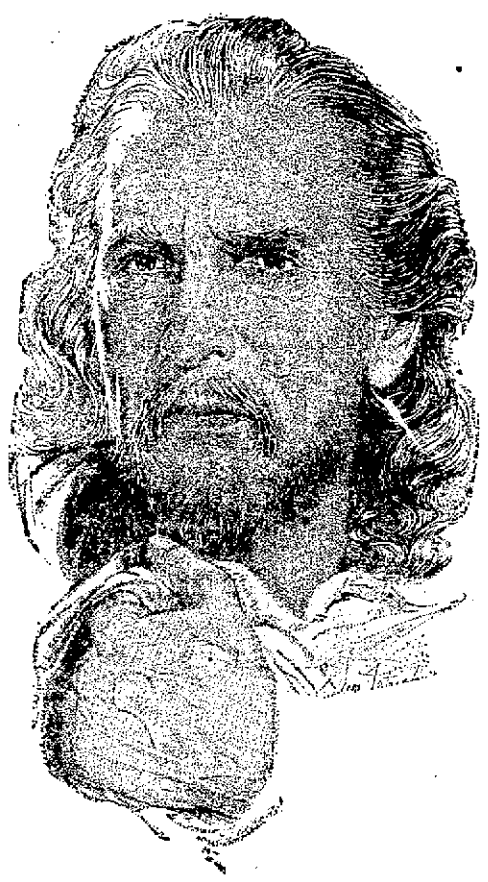
Havis shot a bird with his .22 caliber rifle, leaned over to pick it up, and propped the rifle against his body. The dog jumped up in excitement, hit the rifle and caused it to fire.

The bullet apparently struck a rib and lodged just under the skin. Doctors at Macon Hospital removed it and sent Havis home.

The world catch of fish has risen by more than 40 per cent since 1948 with Japan far in the lead of the United States which holds second place over Russia.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison



JAMES Son of Zebedee

"And when he had gone a little farther thence, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets."

—Mark I:19

James, like his younger brother John, was a well-to-do fisherman on the Lake of Galilee.

At the Master's call, both left their nets to become "fishers of men."

Jesus called the brothers Boanerges, meaning "Sons of Thunder," apparently because of their dynamic, burning faith.

This impetuous zeal which characterized both brothers is evident in the passage (Luke IX:51-56) which tells of the Samaritans' refusal to receive Jesus because He was enroute to Jerusalem, the capital city of their enemies, the Jews.

"And when his disciples James and John saw this they said, Lord wilt thou that we command fire to come down from heaven, and consume them even as Elias did?"

But Jesus curbed their spirit of retaliation. He told them:

"The Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them."

Instead of creating a public tumult, as well as further resistance to His message, Jesus went to another village.

James, along with John the Beloved, went with Jesus to the garden of Gethsemane on the night of agony before the Crucifixion. He was also a witness to the Transfiguration and, later, to the Ascension.

According to Scripture (Acts XII:1,2), James was arrested on orders from King Herod Agrippa shortly before Passover in the year 44, and was beheaded.

Secular history tells us that the accuser of James, who had brought him before the judges who condemned him was so deeply impressed by the apostle's faith and constancy, even under torture, that the informer was himself converted to Christianity, and suffered the same fate as James.

The characteristic of James that makes him an immortal prototype of the true believer was his steadfast faith in Jesus and His mission.

He had but to meet the Nazarene to recognize and follow Him through all the hardships, persecutions, and condemnation which followed.

Akron Mayor Assumes Familiar Mediator Role

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Leo Berg today assumed his annual role of mediator in negotiations between the Akron Transportation Co. and its bus drivers and mechanics.

The mayor hopes to prevent a strike authorized for 2 a.m. Monday when the working agreements expire.

For the past three years the mayor's last minute mediation has prevented strikes.

The 300 bus drivers want a raise of 40 cents an hour on the scale of $1.90. The 35 mechanics, who make $2, want a 35-cent raise. Company offers have not been revealed.

Scenes like this are as commonplace as the moonbeams that play on the nursery wall. Little Gail doesn't know it . . . but Daddy and Mummy "look in" on her every night.

But what of the hours when parents sleep? What of the busy playtime when Daddy's at work, and Mummy's in the kitchen, and Gail is out walking her doll? Who will "look in" then?

Centuries ago the Hebrew pilgrims went up to Jerusalem for the great feasts, lifting their eyes to the hills, singing the song of "The Divine Vigil."

He that keepeth thee will not slumber rang the voice of the leader. He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep answered the chorus

Even the loving care of parents is no substitute for the faithfulness of God. When you worship in church next Sunday you'll be expressing the ageless conviction: My help cometh from the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Col. Hamilton Will Talk to Foremen's Club on Tuesday

Col J. Arthur Hamilton, commanding officer of the Marion Engineer Depot, will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Marion Foremen's Club Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Columbian Hall.

He will tell of his experiences in Europe and Korea and describe the various operations and functions of the engineer depot.

A native of Reynoldsburg, Pa., Col. Hamilton is a graduate of Penn State College with a BS degree in electrical engineering. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army reserves in October, 1929.

Called to active duty in February, 1941, he has since served in various capacities both in the U.S. and overseas. He saw duty in Europe during World War II and more recently in Japan and Korea.

He became commanding officer of the depot here in May, 1955, and has since taken an interest in various civic affairs and in Boy Scout activities. In January, 1956, he was named chairman of the Marion-Morrow district committee of the Harding Area Boy Scouts. He is married and has three sons.

The Foreman's Club, affiliated with the National Management Association, is a division of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. President is John Marshall and program chairman is Harold Young.

12,000 Teenagers Yell For Presley in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Elvis Presley, wearing a $2,500 gold leaf suit and $100 golden slippers, sang 16 songs in less than an hour before some 12,000 shrieking teenagers Thursday night at the International Amphitheatre.

Thirteen girls, many wailing "We want Elvis!" were carried to the first aid station during the rock 'n' roll singer's one-night Chicago program.

When he came on the stage, nearly two hours after the program started, his young fans stormed the stage. One girl swung her purse at a policeman, missed him and hit Tony Carvatta, 18, an usher. He suffered head injuries and was taken to a hospital.

Ike Endorses Drives

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower has endorsed the fund drives of America's three major faiths — Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish — to aid the needy abroad.

The drives are sponsored by the Interdenominational Church World Service, the Roman Catholic Bishop's Relief Fund Appeal, and the United Jewish Appeal-Emergency Rescue Fund.

New $150 Rocket Weapon Is Navy's Answer to Rising Costs

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — The Navy announced today a new rocket-propelled missile named Zuni, and said the $150 weapon can overtake a jet plane.

An economy model among high explosives, Zuni can be used in air-to-air and air-to-ground attack, said the Bureau of Ordnance, which made these claims for the folding fin, solid propellant rocket:

It can knock down a 10-billion bomber, demolish solid concrete pillboxes and destroy tanks.

Its launching device, enfolding four rockets, develops ultra-high velocity. The launcher can be stowed and operated in a plane and, after firing the missile, is easily jettisoned, thus increasing the plane's speed.

It is a non-nuclear weapon.

Aside from costing less, the 5-inch Zuni saves money on packing, saves loading space, saves personnel formerly necessary for loading and is safer because it requires less handling. It has been approved for operational use in the fleet.

Rear Adm. F. S. Withington, chief of the bureau, termed Zuni the answer to rising defense costs —an inexpensive, reliable and efficient all-purpose weapon.

Withington said Zuni — named for a Pueblo Indian tribe in western New Mexico — has twice the velocity of Ivar, the World War II weapon which it replaces on high performance aircraft.

College Youths Seek Teeter-Totter Record

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Two College of the Pacific fraternity brothers—apparently prompted by growing signs of spring—said today they'll try to set a new world teeter-tottering record next week.

A world record of 100 hours is claimed by the college's Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity—set in 1951 on the occasion of COP's centennial observance.

Steve Henry, 20, Redding, Calif., and Mike Resso, 21, Modesto, Calif., members of the same fraternity, will start teetering at 10 a.m., Wednesday in an effort to better the 100-mark.

Each weighs 216 pounds. The teeter is 25 feet long and a foot wide. One plans to keep the teeter going while the other—tied on—sleeps.

Sniper's Bullets Scare 'El' Train Passengers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sniper's bullets smashed through the windows of three trains of the Market Street elevated line Friday, terrorizing passengers and causing one man to faint after a slug narrowly missed his head.

A fourth train also was fired upon but the bullet glanced off the side of the car just under the window. Police said the sniper, who hasn't been found, probably was on a roof or in a window at a level with the elevated tracks.

Motor Not Fair

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The idea in the annual push car derby on the California campus is that only the human foot does the propelling. Judges awarded Zeta Beta Tau first place—then took a better look. The fraternity's push car had a lawn mower motor.

The Hospital Issue

An eventual decision by the board of governors of Marion General Hospital to construct a fifth floor has been almost inevitable from the time the hospital was constructed.

Announcement Friday that the time of decision by the board had arrived was of widespread interest in the county, of course. But from the standpoint of the whole civic improvement picture, the revelation that a city-county bond issue for the construction would be sought for the November election this year was the major development.

In this era of constantly expanding needs at the community level, the timing of votes on bond issues and levies is of extreme importance.

Despite the wide variety of taxing measures that have been discussed here, the climate would seem quite favorable for passage of the hospital issue.

At any event, no other issues have yet made an appearance in the city, although the southwest quadrant of the county may have a school consolidation vote.

The overcrowding of hospital medical and surgical floors is a condition that exsists generally throughout the country.

It has been caused by a constantly-increasing population and a growing trend toward wider use of hospitals in the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

There seems to be no doubt of the very real need for the proposed construction at the local hospital.

«Once that need has been demonstrated officially to City Council and the Board of County Commissioners, the bond issue should be placed on the ballot and given the strong support of the entire county.

Nothing Revolutionary

When you stop to think about it, there is nothing revolutionary in the idea that labor unions should be held accountable for their funds.

A reform in union procedures is called for by the curious lack of auditing under Dave Beck and Frank Brewster of the Teamsters Union.

This is aside from anything else these two men and their associates may have done. Any organization whose funds are not subject to periodic and professional audits is making it easy for fund-handlers to do things they would not dream of doing under observation.

So far, union leaders and politicians have been under the investigators' spotlight. In New York, scrutiny will be concentrated on deals between union leaders and management officials, to show how employers and union spokesmen can restrain competition when they are in collusion.

That is the purpose of the investigation. The question before Congress is whether or not unions should be subject to the same antitrust laws that make employers answerable for acts that restrain trade. Whether or not they audit their books is not for Congress to decide.

For Usefulness

This is the 75th anniversary of an event which many of us think happened much longer ago —the founding of the Knights of Columbus by the Rev. Fr. M. J. McGivney in New Haven, Conn. It was such a good idea and spread so rapidly it has made the impression it must have been in circulation longer than 75 years. And this is why:

The Knights of Columbus was intended to be an association of Catholic men for religious and civic usefulness, and it has been exactly that. Today, with a million members in the United States, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Panama and the Philippines, it is one of the most useful organizations in the world.

Flashback

Thanks to television, which now is reworking the material that radio exhumed from the adventures of frontier fiction, most of us know all about the struggle to establish law and order in the West.

It was not easy to make the change from direct action with guns and ropes to the roundabout methods of law, with judges, juries and rules of evidence.

Long after the West had been tamed to work in harmony with law, lynch mobs still were running loose in the South. Even today, recourse to direct violence is not unknown.

This might well be the background for all discussion of attempts to win support for law and order in the world — attempts infuriating to everybody inclined to trust in tooth-and-claw solutions.

No popularity awaits the champion of law and order — nothing but slanders and insults by direct actionists who would prefer to drop a bomb, string up a few "outlaws," or organize a posse.

They have no use for roundabout methods; they would prefer to start shooting. Yet, when circumstances would make them the targets instead of the shooters, they, too, develop a lively interest in legality.

When will international law and order finally be accepted? It is unwise to expect too much too soon. In view of the time required to put the sheriffs and courts in business in the United States, it might be well into the next century.

Religion In and On the Job

A Refresher

By EUGENE CARR

If we believe in applying the principles of a religious faith to everyday life, then we should ask ourselves some rather pertinent questions.

Do we give our religious training and experiences the same chance to succeed as other phases of life and living?

Do we consciously prepare ourselves for a proper application of the teachings of our faith to the daily problems and opportunities we encounter?

Do we readily draw on our faith? Is it a spontaneous, natural reaction?

Do we renew and refresh our minds and spirits from day to day, so that our faith is sharp and sure, alert to our needs and the needs of others?

FOR EXAMPLE, a man is trained for a particular job. He has had special schooling. He has served an apprenticeship or training period. Often, he must pass a series of tests or examinations to qualify. He develops his skill and aptitude, and further knows valuable sources of advice and information in his line of work.

As he goes through his career, he grows in knowledge and ability, improving with each day on the job. There comes a time when he relies heavily on his training and experience and his every move and decision is natural, easy.

Yet, he does not rest there. He keeps himself up-to-date on developments in his field. He reads and studies, exchanges ideas with others. If possible, he takes a refresher course in his favorite subjects to sharpen his knowledge and point up his effectiveness.

ARE WE AS conscientious in applying the tools of a religious faith? Do we give the time we should to study, prayer, and meditation? Do we go, when possible, to group meetings where we may be exposed to the religious experiences of others and see their faith at work? Or, do we depend for the most part on the early day training of childhood, the long-ago contacts with a hometown church and a religious father and mother?

If we believe the principles of a religious faith have a definite place in our day to day lives, are a part of the job, the home, the family group, and the social event, then we will keep ourselves up-to-date in our contacts with God. There is no better "refresher course".

Lesson From Reds

By Eric Downton

OTTAWA

Faced with a shortage of male engineers and scientists similar to the United States', Canadian industrialists are hoping to bring a growing proportion of women into these fields.

But women specialist graduates complain that anti-feminism and unequal pay for equal work are prevalent and discouraging.

With the Dominion's industry expanding at a near-breathless pace, the dearth of specialists, already acute, is expected to become worse in the next few years. So efforts are being made to persuade women at universitities to train for careers that hitherto have been left almost exclusively to men.

Canadian officials, business executives and educators visiting the Soviet Union in recent months have been impressed by the large role women are filling there in engineering and scientific capacities. Visitors to Communist China, too, report being surprised at the speed with which Chinese women are being trained and fitted into such professions.

The Canadian Industrial Foundation on Education, established last year, is making a special study of possible expanded use of female talent to meet what is referred to here as the "skillpower shortage".

Women have already proved that in certain categories of scientific and engineering professions, where feminine aptitudes can be deployed to advantage, they often excel the performance of their male colleagues.

Activities in which women experts are reported to show particular ability include laboratory services, research, testing, inspection, statistical operation, instruction.

Academic standards of women scientists reach a higher average level than those of the men.

Today in Canada, women hold only between 2 and 3 per cent of the nation's scientific and engineering posts, according to the government's labor department.

Almost a quarter of these women are biology specialists. Four per cent of them are engaged in chemistry, about the same number in physics.

However, Canadian women graduates in the science and engineering spheres complain strongly of "ultra-conservatism" and "anti-feminism" among personnel directors in Canadian industry.

"We read every day about this alleged acute skillpower shortage," said one. "Yet even when we women are as well qualified as a man for a job we find it difficult to get posts that justify our professional status. Canada's government and industry do not like the idea of equal pay for equal work for women.

"Definitely there is strong prejudice against women coming into the more active branches of engineering and science. Most employers want us as highly qualified back-room drudges, who can do exacting but unexciting jobs better and for less pay than a man."

Last of Luxury Liners

By BERNARD KAPLAN

PARIS

The glamorous era of luxury Atlantic ocean liners — half a century old — may be all but over, experts say. They were weighing the news that the French government is likely to postpone "indefinitely" the building of its much-heralded liner "France."

Though the vessel, which would have been ready to ply the Atlantic in 1960, is to be put on the shelf as a temporary economy measure, doubt was expressed in shipping circles that it will ever be launched.

"The 'France' very well may be the last ship of its size and luxury to be planned for the Atlantic route," was the gloomy prediction of one American shipping executive. "It is probable that the United States entered the luxury liner competition in the Atlantic in what is going to prove its final days."

The "France" was intended as a speed rival to the postwar American liner "United States," which holds the record for the Atlantic crossing. The feeling in expert quarters now is that no country, including America, will in the future build anything to equal or surpass the later vessel.

Despite the tremendous step-up in tourist and business travel between America and Europe during the past few years, there has not been a rush to place large new passenger ships into service.

Britain's Cunard Line, the oldest and largest on the Atlantic route, is replacing some of its older, smaller passenger vessels but only with ships of comparable size. It has no plans to construct any more liners in the Queen Elizabeth or Queen Mary class.

The trend, it was explained, is all toward smaller, more informal ships and less elaborate, cheaper service.

Dominating the whole picture of future transatlantic travel in the minds of shipping executives is the knowledge that jet air transport between North America and Europe is no more than four years away, perhaps less.

Most of the increase in Atlantic passenger traffic since 1950 has gone to the airlines and maritime experts are not ignoring the fact that jets — approximately halving the present air time between Paris and London — will undoubtedly make traveling by plane even more attractive to many persons.

They admitted it was doubtful the price of crossing the Atlantic by ship can be lowered appreciably more than it already has. Shipping costs, including the enormous initial investment in the vessel itself, continue to rise.

The airlines, on the other hand, have been cutting prices and promise additional reductions as air traffic mounts.

Predictions are freely made by airline executives that, within a decade, it will be possible to fly (North American Newspaper Alliance) the Atlantic for less than $100.

Farm Income Rises Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farmers received 1 per cent more for their products between mid-February and mid-March, partially offsetting a 2 per cent decline in the previous month.

The department also announced Friday that average farm production and living costs advanced about one third of 1 per cent, setting a new record.

The increase in average receipts was credited mainly to higher prices for meat animals, fruits and commercial vegetables. Lower prices were recorded for dairy products, eggs and cotton.

Mid-March prices were 3.78 per cent higher than a year ago, but about 26 per cent below the record level reached in February 1951.

Builders Hail Move To Ease Home Finance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Builders and housing officials were cheered today by President Eisenhower's restoration of 5 per cent down payments on home purchases financed by government - insured mortgages.

But they predicted stronger medicine will be needed to cure the housing slump of the past 18 months.

Eisenhower Friday ordered the Federal Housing Administration to cut the down payment from 7 to 5 per cent on the first $9,000 of the value of a new or old home bought with an FHA - insured mortgage, and from 27 to 25 per cent on the balance up to $20,000.

He also moved to relax a restriction on home mortgages by savings and loan associations.

Meanwhile, support was building up in Congress for further easing of home buying credit.

Shortly before the announcement, a House Banking Subcommittee approved an omnibus housing bill which would ease home buying terms even more, and provide an additional 2½ billion dollars worth of potential new government assistance.

Navy Receives 2nd Atom Sub

'Seawolf' Is Delivered By General Dynamics

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The Navy welcomed its second atomic powered submarine — the Seawolf—into the fleet today.

The 330-foot Seawolf, which displaces 3,260 tons, was built here by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The Nautilus, America's first atomic sub, is being refueled for the first time since it was launched two years ago.

Her atomic power plant should be able to drive the Seawolf equivalent of about three times around the world, a General Electric Co. executive said.

Three circuits of the globe would consume an amount of fuel about the size of a softball, he added.

Truman Not Perturbed Over Relations With Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said Friday, "I just don't give a damn" about strained relations between him and President Eisenhower.

Truman made the comment as he arrived at Pennsylvania Station in answer to a newsman's query if he had any plans to make up with Eisenhower.

"It's all on one side. It's not on my part. I just don't give a damn about the situation," said Truman.

Marion Man Gets Hospital Sentence

BUCYRUS—Raymond Thomas, 34, of near Marion, was placed on two years probation and ordered committeed to the Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe, O., for mental treatment at a hearing here Friday before Crawford County Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll.

Thomas pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing checks without sufficient funds following his indictment, March 7, by the Crawford county grand jury. At an earlier hearing, March 11, he pleaded innocent to the charge, but changed his plea to guilty Friday. He has been held in the county jail since Dec. 24.

Judge Carroll pointed out that Thomas already has served a probationary period on a similar charge and that violation of his new probation would result in a penitentiary sentence.

County prosecutor John D. Sears Jr., recommended the probationary period and hospital treatment because of Thomas' large family. He is the father of five children.

Thomas allegedly wrote bad checks on Galion merchants and the formal charges were filed after he issued a worthless check to Galion Community Hospital.

Scientists Plan Test of Cosmic Particles Aloft

BALTIMORE (AP) — About 50 space scientists have decided to attempt to fire a rocket 2,050 miles into space where it would vacuum up some scientific dirt and bring it back to earth.

The Martin Co. conceived the plan and explained it in detail Friday to distinguished leaders in the fields of cosmic ray and nuclear emulsion research and rockets.

Raymond T. Patterson, Martin advanced design engineer, and Dr. Gerhart Groetzinger of Martin's Research Institute for Advanced Study, went into details.

Patterson said the 153-pound "research vehicle" would be rocketed 2,050 miles aloft by a multiple-stage rocket. Only about one-third of the vehicle would return to earth by parachute. This, said Patterson, would include an 81-inch long vertical cylinder which would contain 616 nuclear emulsion pellicles, or film sheets.

These sheets would record the bombardment of cosmic particles and magnetic fields of which man has only indirect and very meager knowledge.

Reservists' Duty Term Reduced in New Army Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has cut by more than half the length of time youthful reservists must continue training after active duty. It also reduced the total service obligation of draftees and regular Army volunteers.

The changes in requirements for reservists and National Guardsmen were announced Friday.

Under the new program, below draft-age youths who volunteer for six months' active duty training will be required to serve three years instead of the present 7½ in the ready reserve, subject to immediate call on active duty.

The ready reserve obligation for Army draftees was reduced from five years to four. Draftees spend two years on active duty, and the reduction means they now will stay in the ready reserve an additional two years instead of three.

Likewise, the total obligation for regular Army volunteers was reduced from five to four years. Men may volunteer for three, four or more years. A three-year volunteer henceforth will be required to spend only one additional year in the ready reserve

QUEEN OF PARIS. Annie Douarin, 19, holds a replica of the Eiffel Tower as she is chosen "Queen of Paris," the second beauty title she has won in a month. In the first contest she became "Queen of the Midinettes."

Win Bridge Tourney

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two Indianapolis men and two Toledo, Ohio, players teamed up Friday to win the team-of-four championship at the Midwest Regional Bridge Tournament.

The winners, after daylong play, are Jerome Jacobs and Charles E. Stinning, Indianapolis, and E. G. Dan Tell and Carl J. Hudecek of Toledo.

Foreign Students Honor Guests at Farmers Banquet

Approximately 175 persons attended the annual banquet meeting of the Marion County Farmers Union Thursday night in the Leader St. Union Hall.

The event honored three foreign farm exchange students, whose 10-month stay in Ohio is being sponsored by Farmers Union groups. Present were Otto Hans Hocke of Zeimern, Germany, a guest in the Vernon Beaver home near Marion; Josef Doppler of Nieder-Oesterreich, Austria, visiting near Xenia; and Byron Thomson of Whitminster, England, staying near Miamisburg.

Featured speaker on the program was Stanley Hamilton of Richmond, Va., who is in charge of the farm youth exchange program for the federal government. Mr. Hamilton spoke on the significance of the family farm in our present-day agriculture economy. He also showed films of farming practices in England, France, Germany, Norway and Sweden.

Guests at the event included farm representatives from Putnam and Greene Counties.

The next regular meeting of the Union will be held April 26. A polio benefit dance will precede that event on April 5, with both round and square dancing to be featured at the Union Hall. All proceeds are to be turned over to the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation.

Thursday night's banquet was served by Farmers Union members from the east side of the county to members of the west side, as a "penalty" for having lost a recent membership drive carried on as part of a statewide effort to enlist more members into Farmers Union organizations.

Costs Refunded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio has been refunded $3,984 paid by the state in September, 1955, to reimburse Cuyahoga County for court costs in the wife-murder trial of Dr. Samuel Sheppard of Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, who reported receipt of the money Thursday, said the refund followed a settlement by Dr. Sheppard's brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, with Cuyahoga County for costs in the trial.

McCall's
"SWEETBRIAR", A 3 Bedroom Home built to the combined specifications of 103 women of the Women's Congress on Housing
April Issue of McCall's, Now On Newsstands, Tells How . . .
The women agreed on a surprising number of features reflecting the trend to increased family closeness, which McCall's defines as "Togetherness." As a result, the new house is probably as close as the industry will come in constructing a "dream" house.
It Features . . .
- Kitchen which has a step-saving, L-shaped arrangement and a floor to ceiling window.
- Combined family-dining room, entertainment center and safe-play-area for children which opens on a back terrace through aluminum-framed sliding doors.
- Floor plan, designed for comfortable family living includes three bedrooms — all generous in size.
- Master bedroom large enough for double or twin beds with large window and ample sliding door closeting — children's bedrooms give plenty of space for play and study.
- Half-bath accessible from bedroom wing or back door where children shed muddy clothes.
- Guest closet near front door.
- Sliding doors from dining area to terrace to keep traffic out of kitchen.

Albert M. Cole, Administrator of the Government's Housing and Home Finance Agency, recently thanked 103 homemakers from all parts of the country participating in the first Women's Congress on Housing for giving housing authorities valuable and practical advice on "how the modern home can be improved to better serve the needs of families. The women will be repaid," said Mr. Cole, "if the homebuilding industry will give their proposals full consideration."

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week.

Ohio

Attractions in a double horror show currently showing through Tuesday at the Ohio Theater are "Attack of the Crab Monsters" and "Not of This Earth." Both are classed in the science-fiction category with Richard Garland, Pamela Duncan and Russell Johnson heading the cast in the former and the latter starring Paul Birch, Beverly Garland and Morgan Jones.

The fantastic tale of a scientific expedition studying H-bomb fallout effects on a remote and mysterious island is related in "Attack of the Crab Monsters." It tells of the crunching, devouring attack on the people of the island by 25-foot crab monsters. The frightening creatures are biological freaks resulting from sudden dosages of radiation poisoning.

"Not of This Earth" concerns a visitor from another world determined to drain mankind's blood to replace that being lost by people on his own planet. Paul Birch is seen as the evil, invading murderer.

Billed to show as a double feature Wednesday through Saturday are "Last of the Badmen" starring George Montgomery and featuring Douglas Kennedy, Keith Larsen, Meg Randall and James Best, plus "Hold That Hypnotist," a new Bowery Boys comedy starring Huntz Hall and featuring Stanley Clements and Jane Nigh.

"Last of the Badmen," an adventure thriller in Cinemascope and color, relates the true story of an infamous gang of killers of the Early West. Hired to track down these clever criminals were a group of talented undercover agents. George Montgomery portrays one of these fearless men.

With his life in jeopardy every minute, Montgomery is assigned to track down and unmask the vicious and cunning Gallatin Gang.

In "Hold That Hypnotist," Huntz Hall, attempting to prove the fraudulence of a self-styled doctor of hypnosis, finds himself enmeshed in the quack professor's hocus-pocus operations and in a deep, dream-provoking, sleep.

In his hypnotic sleep, Hall has gone back to his childhood days and from that period his regression delves back to the time of the notorious Blackbeard the Pirate. The dream sequences go even farther back—to the days of the ancient Roman Empire.

Palace

"The Tattered Dress," a suspense story starring Jeff Chandler, Jeanne Crain, Jack Carson, Gail Russell and Elaine Stewart, and "Hot Summer Night," also a suspense thriller with Leslie Nielsen and Colleen Miller in leading roles, will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

Filmed in Cinemascope, "The Tattered Dress" presents Jeff Chandler as a brilliant criminal lawyer hired to defend a wealthy Desert Valley vacationer on a charge of murder in a small California desert resort town.

He wins the case but then is forced back into court to defend himself against a jury-bribing charge trumped up by a corrupt sheriff, played by Jack Carson. Thus, the film has two trial sequences.

"Hot Summer Night" is the story of a newspaperman whose honeymoon comes close to turning into a nightmare when he determines to bring off a big front-page scoop by interviewing a notorious killer holed up with his gang in a hideout near a small town in the Ozark hills.

The obstacles placed in his path by various local characters, each of whom has his or her reason for protecting the killer, the ruse by which the reporter is trapped and held for ransom, and the desperate efforts of his young bride to bring about his release provide the suspense.

Billed for Thursday through Saturday as a double feature are "The Incredible Shrinking Man," a science-fiction shocker in which Grant Williams and Randy Stuart co-star, plus "The Night Runner" starring Ray Danton and Colleen Miller.

The terrifying story in "The Incredible Shrinking Man" is of a man who contracts a mysterious malady that gradually but inexorably shrinks him from his normal six-foot stature to less than an inch in height.

One of the most hair-raising sequences is where the two-inch-high man is stalked by a house cat whose size relative to him is as great as that of the largest dinosaurs was to prehistoric man.

"The Night Runner" is a psychological study of a man who murders in spite of himself. Ray Danton portrays a young man who is released from a state mental hospital half-cured of insanity, only to commit a brutal killing in a fit of homicidal mania.

Colleen Miller is seen as the daughter of the owner of a motel where Danton rents a room. She finds herself in love with Danton and so deeply enmeshed in the tangle of his life that she almost becomes one of his victims.

GEORGE MONTGOMERY is faced with numerous bullet-riddled situations in his starring role as a western undercover agent in "Last of the Badmen," which will be one attraction of a double bill Wednesday through Saturday at the Ohio Theater. Featured in the Cinemascope and color film are Douglas Kennedy, Keith Larsen, Meg Randall and James Best.

State

"The Girl He Left Behind" starring Tab Hunter and Natalie Wood, and "Gun the Man Down" with James Arness, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are "Backlash" and "Women From Headquarters." The former stars Richard Widmark and Donna Reed and is in technicolor.

James Cagney and Humphrey Bogart are stars of the film, "The Oklahoma Kid," which will be the main attraction of a double feature Friday and Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Air Strike" starring Richard Denning and Gloria Jean.

Plane Parts Found

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Air Force authorities today are investigating reports of what appear to be parts of a B47 jet bomber's wheel well door found in separate spots in Allen County.

The highway patrol said a 12-year-old boy and a farmer Friday reported finding pieces of metal which Ronald Gaskill at the Lima Airport says look like pieces from the door that opens when wheels are projected for landing a B47 jet bomber. Ronald Barber, 12, and Paul Runser, a farmer, both of Rt. 2, Columbus Grove, reported finding the pieces.

The cost of accidents in the United States last year would have paid for construction of 2,000 new 300-bed hospitals.

Local Youth Indicted in Fatal Auto Crash Put on Probation

Alan J. Snouffer, 19, of 314 Lafayette St., was placed on a year's probation and had his driving rights suspended for six months after pleading guilty in Delaware Common Pleas Court Friday to a charge of second degree manslaughter.

The Ohio Wesleyan sophomore was indicted two weeks ago by the Delaware County grand jury in the traffic death of Mrs. Alice Teagarden, 71-year-old Phi Gamma Delta fraternity housemother at Ohio Wesleyan.

She was fatally injured Feb. 24 when a taxi in which she was riding was struck by a car driven by the youth at the intersection of N. Liberty and W. Winter streets.

Judge O. W. Whitney Jr. suspended a $250 fine on condition that terms of the probation are complied with. He ordered the Marion student to report to the court monthly for one year, refrain from misconduct—particularly involving driving during the probation period—and obtain employment when school is not in session.

The judge commended the youth from the bench for his "honesty in entering a plea of guilty." Several character witnesses appeared in his behalf, including Rev. Frederick Leech, former rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Cecil Gabler, assistant to the superintendent of Marion schools, and Miss Pansy Rauhauser, teacher at Harding High School.

Judge Whitney said that in passing sentence he included consideration of the fact that there were no violations involved other than failure to heed a stop sign. He said also that the youth had not been accustomed to driving in Delaware and that stop signs at the intersection were reversed last fall.

The judge said he had received many letters from Marion residents testifying to the youth's character and his standing in this community.

Defense counsel in the case was Richard Firestone, Delaware attorney.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Police said Jackie Ray Lawson Friday reenacted the killing of 29-year-old Mrs. Credia M. Mallady Friday at her St. Louis apartment after signing a statement for the second time admitting that he was the attractive divorcee's murderer.

Lawson has been charged with manslaughter in a warrant signed by the circuit attorney's office.

Mrs. Mallady's body was found in a creek near Columbus where Lawson said he had dumped her after bringing her in the trunk of his car from St. Louis. He said he strangled her Feb. 26 during an argument about his proposed return to Columbus to live with his wife and small child.

Comptroller Is Appointed for Highway Dept.

Paul L. Noble, OSU Accounting Teacher, Takes New State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Paul L. Noble has been named comptroller of the Ohio Department of Highways.

The newly created post and the appointment were announced Friday at a press conference by Highway Chief Charles Noble. The Nobles are not related.

The highway chief said Noble will begin work immediately and have general charge of financial planning. The 35-year-old appointee, a native of Cleveland, has an indefinite leave of absence from Ohio State University where he is an assistant professor of accounting.

Will Direct Finances

Noble will have over-all charge of the department's general budget and keep financial controls on Gov. C. William O'Neill's one billion dollar road-building program.

The highway chief said the position was created to "increase our efficiency, get rid of surplus red tape, if it exists, and to make maximum use of resources available to the department."

Noble said the department's auditing division has "its hands full" and the appointment of a comptroller will help lift the burden from this division.

The new comptroller is a member of the board of directors of the Columbus chapter of the National Assn. of Cost Accountants. He is married and the father of three children.

Plan Washington Trip

The highway chief told newsmen that he and four assistants would be in Washington Monday and Tuesday to discuss proposed policy regarding rate of progress of surveys, designs, right-of-way acquisitions and other related matters on interstate projects.

Noble and representatives from California, Missouri, New York, Texas and Georgia will meet with B. D. Tallamy, in charge of the federal government's highway program.

Noble also announced that the department has completed its tabulation of bids submitted for tire and tube contracts. He said awards will be made to the low bidder in every case.

The Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay, Ohio, was the apparent low bidder on 50 per cent of the contracts, which totaled an estimated $200,000.

Cooper originally submitted low bids on certain types of tires but these bids and others were rejected by the department. A spokesman for the Highway Department said then that its contract specifications were "less than proper."

New bids were accepted recently when the department said it had adopted more definite and precise specifications.

Desi Arnaz Opens Lush Hotel Country Club in Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Desi Arnaz, Cuba's answer to Conrad Hilton, today formally opens his newest venture—a multimillion-dollar hotel country club resort.

The onetime bongo player—now a titan of television—press previewed the elaborate layout Friday with an opening so fancy helicopters were used for taxis from the airport.

The hotel—called Desi Arnaz' Western Hills Hotel—adjoins the Indian Wells Country Club. Both are Arnaz enterprises.

Some idea of the hotel's luxury: it cost one million dollars and only has 42 rooms.

Each room comes equipped with its own private bar, original paintings, gold fleck draperies and private patio.

The main dining room has a unique sunken bar which features drinks from Desi's personal cuban recipes.

The house orchestra is the original Arnaz band. Desi says the only change is that a Mexican sings "Babalu" now.

The resort is but the latest chapter in one of Hollywood's most fabulous success stories.

When "I Love Lucy" first began on television Desi was the unknown quantity. No one wanted him on the show but his wife, Lucille Ball.

That was in 1951.

Today Desi, with one of the sharpest minds in Hollywood, is boss and owner of Desilu, Inc., one of the world's largest television producers.

He owns his own studio—the same one he used to rent space from—and employs 800 people, more than some major lots.

He branched into the resort business after taking up golf three years ago.

Most golf addicts just buy the kind of clubs you carry in a bag. Arnaz, a millionaire, buys country clubs.

Two Convoys Continue Suez Canal Journey

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Two ship convoys were moving through the Suez Canal today, marking a major step toward resumption of normal operations in the 103-mile waterway.

A five-nation, nine-ship convoy which entered the canal Friday from Suez at the southern end resumed its voyage at dawn after being stalled by a severe sand storm.

Another five-ship convoy entered the canal today at Suez. They were the first to begin passage since the waterway was blocked during the October-November British, French and Israeli attacks on Egypt.

Some individual ships have transited the waterway since limited operation was resumed.

Both convoys entered the canal on strictly Egyptian terms, paying tolls to the nationalized Suez Canal Authority.

A U.N. salvage team planned to remove the last major obstruction from the canal Monday or Tuesday. It is the 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir, sunk near the southern entrance.

The parish house was moved recently from the rear of the church to E. Mark St.

County Awarded $47 By Wildlife Division

Marion County received payment of $47.20 for land within the county owned by the state and administered by the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

Payments for land use come from hunting and fishing licenses and federal wildlife restoration funds and are to be used for schools. The payments are provided under a law enacted two years ago to partially reimburse counties for loss in local taxes when the state acquired the land.

A total of $6,293 was paid to 24 counties, including $2,026.70 to Wyandot County, and $36.50 to Morrow County. Payments represent one per cent of the total value of the land, exclusive of improvements, as shown on the tax duplicate at the time of acquisition by the state.

North Viet Nam To Get Loan From Red Poland

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist Poland is giving what official Red sources describe as a "considerable sum" of money to Communist North Viet Nam.

The North Viet Nam radio said Friday night Poland granted the money—it did not specify how much—for construction projects.

A Warsaw delegation is now in Washington negotiating for U. S. farm surplus goods and loans to help cure Poland's economic woes.

Beck

ing so would be suspension from the giant federation.

Beck — who did not attend the Council meeting — told a reporter in Seattle "I have nothing to say" about the action against him.

AFL - CIO President George Meany said Friday Beck has been summoned to a hearing here May 20 to answer "for his actions in bringing the labor movement into disrepute and his failing to explain many charges against him with regard to misuse of union funds."

Beck's suspension from his AFL-CIO posts is effective pending the results of the May 20 hearing. These jobs carry no salary, but do allow for reimbursement for expenses.

Beck ran into opposition Friday from a top official of the Teamsters Union. John English, secretary - treasurer of the union, said he was against Beck's announced plan for a million dollar publicity campaign.

English said "as long as I am the general secretary-treasurer of the international I will oppose any use of the union's funds for that purpose."

Challenges Statement

He challenged Beck's statement that the Teamster high command had already approved the publicity campaign. He said he hadn't been consulted in St. Louis. Daniel J. Murphy, another member of the Teamsters executive board, said he, too, had never been consulted on the matter.

There were continued rumblings from teamster ranks.

The Washington Teamster, official publication of the union in Washington State, said a council representing all 39 of the state's locals had gone on record against any special assessments or dues increases for union "defense funds."

2 Traffic Mishaps Listed at Bucyrus

BUCYRUS—A Bucyrus driver's southbound auto which attempted to pass a combination on Route 4, about six miles south of Bucyrus at 5:50 p.m., collided with a northbound vehicle in one of the two mishaps investigated Friday by Bucyrus patrolmen.

The passing car driven by Clayton Lutz, 63, of Bucyrus, swerved to the berm in an attempt to avoid striking the oncoming car driven by Blaine W. McCall, 43, of Cleveland, but failed in his attempt, patrolmen said.

The two autos collided almost head-on, doing moderate damage to both. A passenger in the Lutz auto, Corlyn Haag, 43, of Bucyrus, received abrasions and bruises, was treated at Bucyrus City Hospital, and released.

Lutz was cited to appear before Mayor J. L. Sullivan of Bucyrus on a charge of passing without assured clear distance.

Route 103, just west of Chatfield at 12:55 p.m. Friday was the scene of the second mishap investigated. It occurred when a car driven by James Lutz, 18, of near Chatfield, struck a culvert abutment and fence.

Lutz reportedly had fallen asleep at the wheel when his car swerved to the left side of the road and struck the abutment. The driver escaped injury, although moderate damage was done to the car.

He will appear before Mayor Sullivan, April 1, on a charge of driving left of center, patrolmen said.

Douglas Asks ADA To Keep Watch on Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) today urged the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) to throw out any Communists who might slip into the organization of self-typed "liberals."

Douglas, in a keynote speech prepared for ADA's 10th anniversary convention, said a pledge of non-membership in the Communist party or in any totalitarian organization still is a basic qualification for belonging to the ADA. He voiced confidence that "we will not relax our vigilance" against any Red interlopers.

The senator said that despite their "internal difficulties" the American Communists "are still under the control of Moscow."

Douglas praised ADA's decade of work in behalf of social measures and civil rights. He said "totalitariansim and man-made barriers of faint-heartedness, fear and complacency" stand in the way of future progress.

"What is required to realize the greatness of this great country," he said, "is the will, and the leadership to give form and effect to the will. Herein lies the challenge to liberals for the decade ahead."

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

Seven minor no injury traffic accidents were investigated Friday by Marion police. No accidents were reported in the county.

A car driven by Ernest E. Tropp, 44, of Richwood was struck from the rear by another driven by L. J. Easton, 26, of near Marysville in the 100 block on S. Main St. at 7:59 p.m. Both were traveling north.

A similar accident occurred in the 400 block on Bellefontaine Ave. at 6:35 p.m. A car driven by J. M. Warren, 33, of 582 N. Main St. was struck from the rear by a car driven by C. E. Dye, 48, of 797 Merkle Ave.

A third such accident occurred at N. Main and Council streets at 4:47 p.m. A truck driven by C. O. Warren, 49, of Cincinnati was struck from the rear by a car driven by G. J. Etgen, 19, of the Twin Oaks Trailer Park.

Similarly, a car driven by Virgil L. Beck, 41, of 228 Neil Ave. was struck from the rear by another driven by J. R. Moore, 33, of near Prospect at W. Center and Davids streets at 3:42 p.m.

Each of the other three accidents caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Taxpayer Warned Internal Revenue Deadline Nearing

A warning that time is running out for filing of income tax returns was issued today by Nahaniel Looker, district director of the Internal Revenue Service at Columbus.

He noted that unlike last year when taxpayers had two extra days to file because it was leap-year and the filing date fell on Sunday, this year's deadline occurs on Monday, April 15.

Filers who expect to compute their taxes from their income and expense records had better start right now and those who plan to compute their tax on the standard 10 per cent deduction would do well to prepare their returns right away also, Mr. Looker warned.

Up to and including April 15, local offices of the internal revenue service, including the one in Marion on the third floor of City Hall on Delaware Ave., will be open for taxpayer assistance and guidance between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the following dates: April 5, 12 and 15.

The Marion office and other local offices throughout the state will not be open on Saturdays or Sundays, Mr. Looker added. Any checks or money orders for payment of taxes should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service and sent to the District Director's office at Columbus.

Minor Crash Reported In Mount Gilead Area

A "fender bender" in Morrow County was the single accident investigated Friday by Marion post patrolmen.

It occurred on Route 42, about one and one-half miles south of Mount Gilead, at 2:50 p.m. at the highway's intersection with the Worthington-New Haven Road, patrolmen said.

A southbound car driven by Charles Redifer Jr. 24, of Columbus, was slowed for an auto in front of it about to make a left turn, when a vehicle following the Redifer car, driven by Raymond S. Blocker, 42, of Xenia, struck it in the back end, the report indicated.

The jostle reportedly was set off by a third and unidentified car in the line of traffic, which struck the Blocker auto, sending it into the Redifer vehicle.

Minor damage was done to the Redifer and Blocker cars and no injuries were sustained, patrolmen said.

C. of C. Group Plans Purebred Gilt Program

The current and forthcoming purebred gilt programs were discussed at the regular meeting of the agricultural committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce held Friday noon at Hotel Harding.

Roy Holdridge, committee chairman, pointed out that the gilts for next year's program will be delivered in June and that nominations for county youths desiring to participate in it are still being taken.

Any youth interested in participating should contact his agricultural teacher or the Chamber of Commerce for nomination blanks, Mr. Holdridge noted.

Indonesians Confiscate U.S. Cash From Banks

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Military police confiscated more than one million dollars in U. S. currency during Friday's raid on safe deposit boxes in Bandung banks, the army reported.

Three Bandung banks were found in illegal possession of gold bars. These were also removed by police.

The military crackdown was part of an investigation into the source of wealth of political leaders in an effort to halt alleged government corruption.

15 Harding Seniors Take Part In Presentation of Class Play

The entertaining intrigue of murder and mystery flavored with circumstantial humor brought to the Harding stage Friday night the talents of a cast of 15 seniors in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

An audience of some 900 was kept engrossed in following the quick turn of events once the action began.

The two old ladies, stars of the production, were examples of antique simplicity, as realistically portrayed by Sandy Jenkins and Dixie Geddis. Miss Geddis was outstanding in playing the role of an overeffected, prim spinster.

Assuming the role of the sister, Abby Brewster, Miss Jenkins at all times held command of her role with forceful presentation and sincerity.

No part was acted with more conviction and authenticity than that of Teddy Brewster, depicted by Jim Lightner. A brother of the ladies, he suffered under the illusion that he was Teddy Roosevelt. Mortimer Brewster, theater critic, who unearthed the fact that his aunts had a hobby of murder which they termed an act of mercy, was portrayed with versatility by Jack Kerr.

Jonathan Brewster, a discredited brother who turned up after many years of unexplainable absence, succeeded in turning everyone against him as commendably interpreted by Wallace Brown. Dr. Einstein, a quack and partner in crime with Jonathan, was played expertly by Charles Balthaser who succeeded in gripping the audience in his dilemma.

The romantic element in the play was furnished by Heidi Weinbaum as Elaine Harper, fiance of Mortimer. Her attractiveness and realistic approach to the female whims she portrayed made her quite naturally fit the role.

Although Larry Henry had few lines, he succeeded remarkably well in mirroring the personality of a "tight lipped disciplinarian" come to take the Brewsters away to a sanitarium.

The four policemen provided much of the incidental humor as portrayed by Max Carroll, Bruce Roberts, Bob Bagley and Gary Dix.

Rev. Harper, Elaine's father, who was played by John Guthrie, appeared only in the first act and although he was hampered by slow moving dialogue, managed to do a creditable job. Frank Castanien, as Mr. Gibbs, the prospective boarder, did a convincing job.

Posing twice as a corpse, Dave Powers showed his ability in obliging limpness as he was mustered from a window seat and later dragged through a window to be dumped back into the same close quarters.

Robert Webb, who proved himself a capable director, was presented a gift at the end of the production by Larry Henry on behalf of the cast, Mr. Webb commended the stage crew in helping with the play and had the group join with the cast in accepting the hearty applause during curtain call.

Before the play and between acts, musical selections were presented by the Harding orchestra, under the direction of Homer Huffman.

Tag Reduction To Save Local Buses $1,100

Marion Bus Lines will realize an annual saving of more than $1,100 under a new Ohio law that reduces license tag fees on privately owned transit company buses to a flat $10—the same as for private autos.

Walter Christian, operator of the local bus lines, said today that the saving will amount to $158.50 on each of his seven buses. Previously he had paid a total of $1,179.50 annually for license tags.

Gov. C. William O'Neill signed the bill into law Friday night bringing the measure into immediate effect and enabling transit companies to purchase 1957 licenses at the new rate before the Sunday deadline.

Some financially-pressed companies previously had to pay as much as $360 a year for tags on gasoline and diesel buses.

According to the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, instructions on "how to get your refund" will be mailed to transit companies which had applied for licenses under the old rate.

The Bureau said an application for refunds of amounts over $10 a bus will have to be filed. Instructions on how to file the applications will be included in a letter Monday, the Bureau said.

Railroad

New industries were chary of locating beside a railroad with one wheel in the grave. Automobiles cut into passenger travel. Milk tank trucks spelled the end of farmers' cans on way stations. And so it went.

Each year the debts grew worse — one million, two million, three million deeper in the red.

Two receivers were appointed last month. With a quarter-million-dollar operating fund subscribed by the public, they were directed to show a profit in 60 days. The money ran out in 45 days. The "Old and Weary" was ordered laid to rest.

The odds against her survival may have endeared her to her bond-holders who hadn't had a cent since 1935; to her 1000-odd employes who worked for lower wages; to the government which lent her money to buy new locomotives; to the banks which took pawn tickets on them.

They'll sell the locomotives and some of her tracks and stations to other railroads. What can't be sold will be torn up and scrapped.

Scioto Officials Deny Gambling Is Permitted

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill's comment that the Scioto County area would be investigated for gambling has brought flat denials of the existence of commercialized gambling from officials.

The denials came in separate statements from Sheriff Burl Justice and Mayor Vernard Riffe and Police Chief Fred Brown of nearby New Boston.

Ike Signs Bill Retaining Tax

Extension Effective For 15 More Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday signed a bill to maintain corporation income and excise or sales taxes at present levels for another 15 months.

Without that legislation, the tax rates would have dropped to pre-Korean War levels Monday. This would have cost the government about three billion dollars yearly in receipts. The present rates have been extended on a year-to-year basis.

The extension leaves in effect the maximum corporation income tax rate of 52 per cent, which otherwise would have dropped to 47 per cent. It also continues existing excises on automobiles, auto parts and accessories, cigarettes, liquor, wines and beer.

Delaware Boy, 16, Slated for Hearing In Shotgun Death

DELAWARE—Preliminary hearing for David Bellomy, 16, charged with delinquency in the Feb. 15 shotgun slaying of his stepfather in their home near Center Village, has been set for Monday morning in Juvenile Court here.

Bellomy was returned from the Columbus Receiving Hospital last week after undergoing mental tests. Judge Paul Barrett said test results would not be made public.

Sheriff Harley Wornstaff filed the delinquency charge after Bellomy's stepfather, Wesley W. Horn, 49, died of a shotgun wound in the face. The shooting allegedly occurred during an argument between Bellomy and his stepfather after the youth returned from a basketball game the night of Feb. 15.

Pitchers Near Condition for Major League Races

Phils' Roberts, Redleg Ace Turn In Nine-Inning Jobs

By The Associated Press

Turn back the clock if you will, almost three decades

Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930 One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in Friday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St Petersburg, Fla He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Rube Walker who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast

Returned to Third

Joe saw them both score But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule

Pignatano broke for third Halfway down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run And that's how the game ended Yanks 4, Dodgers 3

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6 1 victory over the St Louis Cardinals at Bradenton

At Clearwater Fla, Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4 At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redlegs in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2

3 Redlegs Homer

Rookie outfielder Harry Anderson clouted a home run for the Phillies Sherman Lollar hit one for the Sox Pete Whisenant and Art Shult hit homers for the Redlegs

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz, the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland, the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz, the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6 3, at West Palm Beach, and the Chicago Cubs licked Memphis in Mesa, 8-2.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer. Herb Score went five innings for the Indians and was effective except for a homer by Ted Williams

Yale Mermen Facing Threat By Wolverines

CHAPEL HILL, N C, (AP) — The National Collegiate swimming championships move into the final round tonight with Michigan given a good chance of overcoming Yale's 11 point lead to capture team honors

Michigan a strong contender in the diving also figured to pick up important points in several other events, including the 400-yard medley relay and the 400 yard freestyle

Veteran Yale coach Bob Kiputh said Michigan 'really whacked us" in the diving The Wolverines captured three of the six places in Friday night's finals in that event to get 13 points

On the basis of results Thursday and Friday nights, Yale was out front in the team total with 45 points, followed by Michigan's 34 Indiana and Michigan State were tied for third with 23 each Oklahoma was next with 18, Harvard 13, North Carolina 11, Iowa 10 Amherst 7, Northwestern 5, Southern Methodist 5, Wisconsin 4 Purdue 3, Texas 3, Army 3, Miami of Ohio 3, Denver 2, Illinois 2, Stanford 1 and Syracuse 1

Three championship meet records were set and another was tied in Friday night's action Yale's Tim Jecko, who won two events to take 14 points and individual scoring honors, set a new meet record in the 200 - yard butterfly stroke race with 2 09 5

The feature race of the night was staged between Indiana's Bill Woolsey and Michigan's Dick Hanley in the 220 yard freestyle Woolsey came from behind in the closing stretch to whip Hanley by about two feet and set a new meet record with a time of 2 02 5

A new meet record was set by Oklahoma's Julian Byason in the 100 yard breaststroke, an event held this year for the first time His time was 1 03 0

TURNER DOWN. Isaac Logart of Havana Cuba stands over Gil Turner after wrestling him to the canvas during a 10 round welterweight fight Friday night at New York's Madison Square Garden Logart won by unanimous decision (UP Telephoto)

Cuban Ring Ace Batters Gil Turner

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban Isaac (Kid) Logart's campaign for a title shot at welterweight champion Carmen Basilio had the support of Gil Turner today

The backing came after the fast punching 23 year-old invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil in a rousing 10 round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden Friday night

Turner fired from another one of his all out full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds however and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head

It was Logart's 12 h win in his last 13 starts for a 48 6 5 record The kid is ranked second to ex champion Tony DeMarco

That $50 000 offer to Basilio for a title fight still goes said Logart's manager Eddie Mafuz

A 4 1 favorite Logart was held even by the 26 year old Turner for the first five rounds but he closed strong with his accurate hooks while Turner lost both power and aim in his punching Turner weighed 148½ Logart 147 ½

Both judges Bill Recht and Nick Gamboli had Logart ahead 6 3 1 in rounds Referee Mark Conn called it 6 and The Associated Press 5 4 1

Farrell Seeks Speed

Hegan Only Indian Player Sure of Opening Day Play

By JERRY LISKA

TUCSON Ariz (AP) — With new manager Kerby Farrell shuffling his Cleveland Indian aces like a riverboat gambler the only part of the Cleveland lineup for opening day which could be given now is Hegan catching

That's how much Farrell has tipped his hand for the 1957 American League campaign

Eighth of a Series

I know I'm taking over a second - place club that had great pitching and poor hitting last year,' the successor to Al Lopez said today

I know the New York Yankees are ahead of us and at least three clubs are pushing us And I know we got to get some hitting and some speed to gain any ground' Wertz Smith Ready

So far just veteran catcher Jim Hegan, first sacker Vic Wertz and Al Smith playing somewhere seem fairly certain of opening day call

Seasoned infielder George Strickland a .211 hitter who has been banging the ball solidly this spring could be a starter

Thus far Farrell has concentrated on Billy Harrell up from Indianapolis Bob Usher, a 350 hitting outfielder for San Diego last year and veteran second baseman Bobby Avila at third base

Strickland has played both at second base and at shortstop where Chico Carrasquel is battling to hold his job after a 243 batting average last season Another spring training candidate is Larry Raines, who hit 309 for Farrell at Indianapolis last year

Maris Holds Key

The key to Farrell's outfield plans may be rookie Roger Maris up from Indianapolis with a 293 average If Smith doesn't play center Maris would have to beat out seasoned Jim Busby or Usher there In left Maris chief contender is another veteran Gene Woodling while Rocco Colavito has the edge in right field

Farrell is confident that Early Wynn, a 20 game Tribe winner last year with Herb Score and Bob Lemon, will be in shape when the season starts Wynn, 37, has been sidelined with a pulled hip tendon

Rookie Hurler Given Chance With Chicago

TAMPA Fla (AP) — A former first lieutenant who decided to give baseball a chance before making the Army a career, has emerged as the best pitching prospect' on the Chicago White Sox

The sleeper' is Roger Howard, a 25 year old righthander, who is still on the Indianapolis farm club roster The husky rookie from Johnstown Pa has impressed Manager Al Lopez with his poise, coolness under fire and exceptional control in addition to a live fast ball and good curve

Howard first attracted attention when he hurled two shutout innings in a camp game Then he sent eyebrows lifting sharply when he stopped the Brooklyn Dodgers cold with one infield hit in a three-inning chore To show that his first encounter with real live major leaguers was no fluke, he came back to check the New York Yankees without a run and only two singles in another three-inning stint

I have a hard time convincing myself that I have a chance to stay with all these veterans around" Howard said

"I was seriously thinking of staying in the Army," Howard explained "I like the Army, but Mr. Rigney, vice president of the White Sox, prevailed upon me to give baseball a try He promised me a training trip with the team. I discussed the matter with my wife and we decided to take Mr. Rigney's advice"

Henry Boat and Standard Oil are in fourth and fifth places respectively on scores of 2920 and 2917.

Delaware School Head Speaks At Prospect Basketball Dinner

Carl Hopkins, superintendent of the Delaware City School system, was guest speaker Friday night at the annual Prospect High School basketball banquet.

A former coach and basketball official, Hopkins praised the cage game as a builder of men and good citizens. He was introduced by Clyde Forry, Prospect superintendent. Mr. Forry also praised the school's team and the support offered by the community. He termed the members of the Bulldog squad "topflight students."

Coach Fred McCumber introduced members of his team, co-champions of the Marion County League race. He cited the encouragement given the boys and thanked "the many people" who helped to make the season a success. In three years at the Prospect helm, McCumber had guided his charges to a record of 60 wins and 9 losses.

Cagers Introduced

Members of the cage squad introduced by McCumber included Roger Remlinger, Tom Anson, Curt Roller, Ron Sparks, Steve Lauer Eddie Roberts, Tom Hickman, Tom Rodgers, Howard Moser, Lance Pearch, Dave Lauer, Dick Roberts, Darrell Gerfen, Dave Disbennett, Ralph Russell, Jack Fetter, Gene Isler and Kenny Phelps. Managers were Gery Keller and Danny Lepard while cheerleaders introduced were Sylvia Bevis, Sue Schmid, Judy Cluck, Alice Krawczyk, Joan Bevis, Becky Long, Patty Welsh, Nancy Anspaugh, Sharon Ridge and Becky Roberts. The cheerleaders were introduced by Miss Claudine Scranton, a member of the Prospect faculty.

Don Almendinger gave a look at the past season from the standpoint of a fan and paid tribute to the cagers Terming them a "bunch of go-getters" he said all Prospect fans were happy with the season's outcome and urged continued support of the community for the track and baseball programs at Prospect.

Parents Commended

Mr. Hopkins commended the parents of the cagers telling them they had given their sons "the first chance to enter the adult world." He hit at what he called overprotection of children by their parents. "The youngsters have a brain and they have to use it," he insisted.

Hitting at the conduct of the normal sports fan, the speaker said, "Booing is sports most disgraceful incident." He said he feels that fans fail to think clearly. "They just don't look at the whole picture," he said. He protected any mistakes made by a high school cager by saying, "They have emotions and they do foul up once in while."

Hopkins closed his address by reading a parody on "What Is a Boy." Entitled "What Is a basketball player," the speaker described high school athletes as "courage in gym shoes" and "examples of the American Way."

Ronald Long served as toastmaster for the program and Mrs. Ruth Gix; PTA president, gave the welcome. Curt Roller gave the response for the team. Peter Ayer, Prospect music instructor, led the group in singing and special numbers were presented by a double quartet of Prospect High School girls.

Rev. Bruce Kriete, pastor of the Prospect Evangelical and Reformed Church, gave the invocation and benediction. The dinner was prepared and served by the PTA home room mothers.

Horse Show Plans Are Studied Here

A total of 14 directors of the Ohio Western Horse Association, representing Marion, Cleveland, Norwalk, Dayton and Columbus, met in the Harding Hotel Friday night to discuss first plans for the 1957 Fall Roundup of the association.

Meeting with the group were representatives of the Marion Y-Men's Club, who probably will sponsor the event for the second straight year. Current plans call for the roundup to be held Oct. 10, 11, 12 and 13 in conjunction with Marion's annual Frontier Days sales promotion. Proceeds from the event are used by the club for charity services.

Larry Hall of Marion, president of the OWHA, noted that membership in the association is already twice as large as last year, with good prospects that this year's fall event will be the biggest and best yet. Chairman of the show for the horse association will be Bruce Bickel of Dayton, vice president of the group. Heading the Y-Men's committee will be Herbert Phillips.

Another planning meeting between the two groups is set for April 26 in the Harding Hotel.

Smoke Overcomes Man In Fire in Apartment

CINCINNATI (AP)—One man was overcome by smoke and approximately 50 other persons fled to the street early today as fire spread through a three - story apartment building in suburban Norwood.

John Crawford, 54, was given oxygen and artificial respiration at Jewish Hospital after he had been carried unconscious from his apartment.

Assistant Norwood Fire Chief David Greensfelder said the blaze apparently started when a box or a paper bag which had been used as an ash tray fell behind a radiator and set fire to the floor.

Cigar Box Can Be Made Into Small Garden

Growing Conditions Are Good for Flower Seeds Inside House

An old cigar box, or a cut-down milk carton can make any man, woman or child a gardener — at least on a miniature basis.

Long before it is time to sow outside, the inside gardener can have his seeds sprouting. At first brush, the directions for a window sill garden might seem complicated. Actually, with a little experience, you can work out your own inside gardening methods to suit your convenience and the space available in your house or apartment. Then, when the weather is warm enough, you will have boxes of seedlings ready for transplanting outside.

Need Warmth, Moisture

Seeds need warmth and moisture for germination and usually they also need darkness. However, the new sprout needs no food and can even do without soil until it develops its "true" leaves—which are frequently different in appearance from the first ones to pop out.

For these reasons, the top layer of the planting mixture which you put into your cigar box or milk carton can be an easily purchased substance such as vermiculite or sphagnum moss. Sphagnum is much more fibrous than peat moss and unless you buy a very fine form it is a good idea to rub it through a kitchen sieve.

Both of these materials hold water like a sponge and can give the small roots of the sprouting seeds the support they need. Being sterile, they put the sprouts in no danger of contracting any of the killing diseases sometimes found in soil.

Other Layers Needed

The top layer can be only half an inch deep and should be another half an inch below the top of the box. This facilitates watering and gives the plants space to grow under a pane of glass—provided you want to seal off your box.

Under the vermiculite, or sphagnum, top layer, you can put an inch-deep layer of your real growing substance, composed of the following:

Equal parts of good garden loam, put through a kitchen sieve to make it fine enough for penetration by delicate roots; sand to make the mixture porous enough to let water drain through readily, and peat moss or leaf mold to hold moisture in storage for the roots to absorb as needed.

Below this layer will be plain garden soil, unsifted and without peat moss or sand. Its rather lumpy texture will help prevent too much compacting. There must always be free circulation of both water and air.

If you are using a fruit box for your needs, the spaces between the bottom boards will be useful for drainage, although it would be advisable to put a layer of burlap over them to keep the soil from falling through.

A cigar box is ideal for the purpose, but it should be reinforced with wires to withstand the pressure of the moist earth. You also will have to bore several drainage holes in it.

Keep Flowers Separate

Small boxes enable you to keep the different kinds of flowers separate and help in treating their different rates of growth as required.

The seeds should be sown in straight rows, one inch apart. Merely press in the smallest kinds, but be sure the larger ones are lightly covered, usually about as deep as their diameter. The metal edge of a rule is good for making the depressions and a sheet of tissue paper or newspaper will make a good cover to prevent washing out of the seeds when they are watered.

Ordinary room temperature, or slightly less, is sufficient for germination and a small drop — of ten degrees or less — will do no immediate injury.

After the plants begin to grow, they need all of the sunshine they can get. As they start stretching towards the light, it will be necessary to turn the boxes each day, to equalize the growth. At this juncture, you will want to put the plants in the sunniest window of your house, but don't forget to move the boxes back from the cold and drafts of the window at night.

Should the plants begin to crowd each other before they are large enough to be transplanted, you can cut off a few of them with manicure scissors. Leave them where they fall so that the roots of the others will not be disturbed.

Spading Task Is Agreeable if Handled Right

One Hour of Work A Day Can Get Job Done, Save Muscles

One of gardening's extra bonuses is exercise — and no place is that exercise more profitably applied than in spring spading.

To one unfamiliar with it, spading might well appear to be an onerous chore, to be delayed or avoided whenever possible. Actually, eight hours work, spread over as many days, will give the gardener 1,500 square feet of spaded soil—and, no sore muscles.

No Substitute

Gardening experts agree that there is no substitute for spading or plowing. In a small garden, of course, plowing is impractical, so the home gardener usually must rely on his spade.

Faced with a spading job, the novice gardener would be only human if he asked himself, "Why do it, anyway?"

The answer is the same simple explanation for any of the things done around a garden, "To help the seeds grow."

Roots must have air and water, and unless these essential elements can penetrate the soil, the plants are starved.

Like any job, spading is easier when it is done systematically. To begin, don't try to turn over your whole garden in one day.

This would make an otherwise pleasant exercise back - breaking labor.

Don't Skimp

It is important that you don't skimp on the depth of your spading. Limit the area that you spade each day, rather than the depth to which the soil is turned.

Drive the spade straight down, not at an angle, so that you get the full benefit of its 12-inch blade.

The first day, spade as much as you can without tiring. Let that be your guide for succeeding days' work. When you know about how much one hour's work is, translated into the amount of soil spaded, you can mark off each day's stint in advance.

At one end of the area to be spaded, open a trench, piling the soil removed to one side. Then, dig an adjoining trench, with the spade at right angles to the first trench. Continue digging these trenches until you reach the end of the day's allotted work, filling each preceeding trench with soil from the trench you are digging. The last trench is filled with the soil taken from the first.

Divided Schools of Thought

There are divided schools of thought on the depth of spading necessary. For centuries, English gardeners have used the "trenching" method, which requires the soil to be turned over to the depth of two spades, or two feet. While not an essential rule of thumb—or spade—"trenching" might be a helpful guide for the beginner.

It is most often used by American gardeners when they are working with roses, perennials and some annual crops. It is largely unnecessary in this country for vegetables and annual flowers, but it is a recommended method for preparing a perennial bed, where the plants are to grow for several years without disturbance.

THIS THREE-BEDROOM home at 737 Blaine Ave. has been sold by Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Smith to Robert E. Hoehn of Marion. It has large living room with guest closet, tile bath, modern kitchen and utility room, gas furnace and large lot. Paul D. Hoch of Hoch Real Estate Agency represented both parties in the transaction.

First Aid for Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have tried many solutions to remove excessive paste which has accumulated on my plastic tiles during installation but to no avail. Is there any preparation that will do the job without damaging the tile?

A: Since there are many types of paste made for use with the above tile it is difficult to tell you which solvent would be best. I suggest that you contact the dealer and get from him the name of the maker of the paste; then write him for suggestions. Or, try softening the paste with naphtha. Put some on in an obscure corner to see what effect it will have on the paste as well as the tile. If satisfactory, continue with the rest of the wall.

Q: Can nylon or paper be removed from a steam iron without sending it to the manufacturer for repolishing? I have tried fine steel wool and a razor blade, but the stains stick stubbornly.

A: Heat the iron to the highest temperature possible, then try to remove the spots with fine steel wool. The high temperature may soften the materials sufficiently for easy removal. I suggest wearing thick gloves, to protect your fingers from involuntary contact with the iron!

Q: My husband put ceramic tile on our bathroom floor, but there is a white film on it when dry. How can we get rid of it?

A: I presume the tile does not have a glossy finish and is solid colored. If so, the white film can be washed off with a solution of muriatic acid. Mix one part of acid in ten parts of water, using a wooden pail or glass container to hold the solution. Pour the acid slowly so as to avoid splashing. Apply the solution on a small section of the floor and after two or three minutes, scrub with more of the solution, using a fibre brush for the purpose. Rinse thoroughly with clear water before going to an adjoining part of the floor. Muriatic is highly corrosive and you must use rubber gloves, old clothing and rubbers over your shoes (in case of spillage). Avoid getting any of the solution on your skin. If you do, rinse immediately with a mild solution of household ammonia.

Q: How can we get rid of mold and a musty odor in our basement? The house is less than five years old and constructed of brick. We would like to remedy the condition before painting the blocks.

A: You will have to eliminate the damp condition causing the growth of mold. The wall areas that show mold should be scrubbed with a mildewproofing preparation to kill the fungus. Boat supply dealers and some hardware and department stores sell the preparation. The walls can then be given a couple of coats of a dampproof cement base paint. If summer condensation caused the above, use a dehumidifier.

Realtor Week To Be Marked Here by Board

Marion Real Estate Board members are joining with other realtors across the nation in observing Realtor Week March 31-April 6. The goal of the week, according to Aulton G. Cook, president of the local board, is to present the aims and obligations of realtors to the public.

Mr. Cook emphasized that only members of the Real Estate Board may use the term "realtor." He said that a realtor is more than just a broker. The local president stated that a realtor is bound by the code of ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Board.

He is kept advised regularly on current business conditions through the state group and the national group and is prepared to give sound advice and service in the financing and technical requirements of real estate transactions, according to Mr. Cook. He also is kept up to the minute on new legislations affecting various real estate problems, the president said.

Mr. Cook said the national code of ethics for realtors is based on the Golden Rule, "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Them Do Unto You."

On the House

Many Factors Govern Decision To Buy Home

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

At least once in a lifetime nearly every family is confronted with the problem of whether to buy or to rent.

The purchase of a home is a major undertaking not to be entered into lightly. If permanent satisfaction is to be found, the house must be well built, its location and surroundings must be carefully studied, and the availability of schools, churches, shopping areas and transportation must be taken into account.

How much can a family afford to spend for a home, whether it is built to order or purchased as is? The savings and mortgage division of the American Bankers Assn. has this advice: the total monthly charges for the mortgage, interest, taxes and insurance should not exceed one week's take-home income.

Other Expenses Important

Also to be considered are the estimated costs for heating fuel and-or air conditioning, electricity and gas; cost of maintaining the property, making repairs, contemplated improvements, painting and redecorating; and the estimated annual income in future years.

People who own their own homes experience a feeling of satisfaction and security which goes deep into the roots of human nature. It is doubtful whether the desirability of home ownership could be completely defended without taking this psychological element into consideration.

On the other hand, the renter's position is more flexible. If a change in the locale of his occupation takes place, he does not have a house to sell. Also, he incurs no capital debt, his cash resources are not depleted to make a down payment and he does not have the responsibility of making major repairs that entail cash outlays.

Something Retained

There is an important difference in the long run between buying and renting. At the end of a specified period of time, the owner has bought something with his monthly payments, while the renter has no more of an estate than when he started. It is true that depreciation of property is a factor, but owner-occupied homes have made a very favorable record in this respect. If the choice was well made at the start and the property adequately maintained, the house may increase in value as the community develops. But, even assuming the worst, the property still has a market value.

There is a movement afoot to induce the government to lower the down payments on houses built under FHA supervision. This reduction may very well come about — and undoubtedly will be a boon to many persons who otherwise could not buy a home at the present time. Yet the prospective home owner would do well to look a little more in this down payment phase of house buying.

Down Payment Important

Assume you want to buy a house for $15,000. If you put down $2,000, you will require a mortgage loan of $13,000. If this costs 5 per cent and you repay it over 25 years, or at the rate of $76 a month, the total interest cost of the loan will amount to $9,800. Remember, that's only interest. But if you were able to make an $8,000 payment, you would need only a $7,000 mortgage loan. Paying off the mortgage at $74.25 per month, at the same 5 per cent, it would take only 10 years to complete the payments. And the interest cost would be only $1,190 — a savings of $8,610 on exactly the same house!

Granted that everybody doesn't have $8,000 to put down on a house, these figures nevertheless illustrate how important it is that a prospective home owner make as large a down payment as he can afford.

Better Homes May Result From Tight Policies on Money

Top real estate appraisers now believe tight credit may result in better new homes, reports the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

"An inspection of housing built last year," says Victor R. Lundy, president of the Society of Residential Appraisers, "reveals that some of it is worth less than the cost of producing it."

Lundy points out that builders still make a substantial profit on these substandard houses "because price has become secondary in importance to credit terms."

He claims that built-in defects, normally rejected by the consumers, remain unnoticed behind the veil of easy financing.

Three-bedroom homes with only one bathroom are prime targets of Lundy's criticism. These homes have become outmoded, he states. Their lack of sufficient bathroom facilities creates bottlenecks during rush hours.

Homes with windows directly over the bathtub also are cited as dangerous, causing bather discomfort.

A third defect which lowers home values is rooms which can't accommodate furniture and fixtures because of their size and shape.

Individuality Goal for Many Home Seekers

CHICAGO (AP) — Many potential home buyers are standing off and giving more consideration to how they want to live 2 years from now.

John M. Neff, manager of a research department at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology, says this attitude is responsible for the slowdown in private home construction.

Many potential home owners are giving second thought to whether they want to live in tract housing areas in which 50 to 100 or more similar units are constructed.

The volume of all types of construction last year totaled over 44 billion dollars, an increase over 1955. But residential construction in 1956 was down 8 per cent from the previous year.

Tract housing units are cheaper than individual houses, Neff said, but they don't afford as much individuality as most people want in their homes.

He says off-site fabrication of homes may put individualized single unit dwellings within the price range of the tract houses.

He doesn't expect this development to be commonplace before 1965.

Government Units Can Order Wood With Grade Mark

Lumber grade-marking, a widely recognized practice for consumer protection in home building, now has the endorsement of the Comptroller General of the United States as a legal requirement in bids and contracts let by agencies of the federal government.

In ruling on the matter, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell said it was the "considered opinion of the Department of the Navy and several other interested government agencies that the requirement operates as a quality control which materially redounds to the interest of the Government."

He said, furthermore, that an investigation by representatives of the Comptroller General's office disproved charges that the requirement would bar wholesale lumber dealers and manufacturers who are not members of a grading association or bureau from bidding on government procurement.

Set up under American Lumber Standards of the United States Department of Commerce, lumber grade-marking is now practically universal in the nation's lumber industry. When stamped on a piece, the grade-mark indicates compliance with grade requirements established and enforced by recognized inspection agencies for the various wood species. Primarily designed to give home builders and home owners an easy, sure means of identifying a good quality of lumber for important house structural parts, grade-marking is also a standard contract requirement of many federal agencies.

The Comptroller General's ruling was designed to clear up any uncertainty as to the nature and legality of the contract requirements.

Building Permits

Ten building permits with a total valuation of $8,575 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office in the period from March 22 through 28. All for improvements, they were:

1-E—IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORY of our dear brother, Elmer W. Hunt we passed away three years ago March 31, 1954.
In our hearts fond memories are kept,
Of one we loved and will never forget.
We think of him in silence,
No one can see us weep,
But many tears are shed
When others are asleep.
Sadly missed by,
Sisters, Brother, Father and Uncle.

IN MEMORY of our beloved husband and father John F. Bridges who passed away March 30, 1955.
I have lost a dear companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
The one I loved has gone to rest,
His firm true heart is still.
The hand that always gave me help,
Now lays in death's cold chill.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. John F. Bridges
and His Children.

Gasoline Station Operators Critical Of Their Suppliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some independent Ohio gasoline station operators are complaining that their suppliers are discriminating against them on the price of the things they buy and other matters.

A House small business subcommittee said today the allegations have been numerous enough to justify holding a hearing in Cleveland May 18.

Cleveland will be one of several cities where the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif), will go.

"The complaints have not come just from Cleveland, however," said Joseph L. Nellis, special counsel for the subcommittee.

"We'll also hear from retailers from Cincinnati, Toledo, Dayton, Columbus and Canton."

At this stage, Nellis said, the subcommittee is not stating that the allegations are justified.

But as Nellis described it, Ohio retail operators allege that some big oil companies are:

1. Unfairly cancelling their leases.

2. Making them buy given brands of tires, batteries and accessories instead of makes of their choice from independent firms.

3. Charging them higher prices for gasoline and oil than those given competitors in the same area.

Among those attending a conference Friday with the subcommittee was Ralph A. Colbert of Cleveland, an attorney speaking for Standard Oil Co. (Ohio). This firm will have a spokesman at the Cleveland hearing.

Dies After Accident

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Frank Sippel, 29, Piqua, died at Stouder Memorial Hospital here this morning after his car collided with a B&O switch engine at the Lytle Road crossing a mile north.

Highway patrolmen said a passenger in the car, Normal M. Morris, 36, also of Piqua, is in critical condition at the hospital.

Nickison Named Head of Company

Directors of Wells Specialty Co., Inc., North Liberty, Ind. today announced the appointment of C. D. Nickison as president of the organization.

C. D. Nickison

Mr. Nickison is a native of Marion, and resided here until 1943.

He was formerly Wells vice-president and general manager, and will continue to perform the duties of that office in addition to his new responsibilities. Initially, he was vice president and sales manager, and in that capacity founded the Wells company in the aluminum business in 1948.

His twenty years experience in metalworking also embraces an executive post with the United States Rubber Co., where during World War II he was involved in the company's aircraft program, and was with the Huber Manufacturing Co. at the start of his career.

Wells is engaged in the manufacture of aluminum extrusions and fabricated aluminum assemblies for the automotive, appliance, architectural, marine and other segments of industry.

Marine in Brig Submits Petition Asking Release

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brigged Marine, who wants out, has gone to law about it in what may be a unique case.

Pfc. Douglas Martin, 22, petitioned U. S. District Judge Joseph P. Lieb Friday for a writ of habeas corpus. Martin contended through his lawyer, Frank B. Byron, that he has been held in the Miami Marine Corps Air Station brig since March 14 without charge and hence illegally by Lt. Col. George E. Lepping, provost marshal.

Lieb set Monday for hearing Lepping's explanation of why Martin remains in the brig.

NEW YORK (AP) — Western Reserve University in Cleveland has been granted $3,100,000 by the Ford Foundation to strengthen its medical school instruction, the Foundation announced Thursday. Forty-four other American medical schools will share in the 90 million dollar grant program.

Ohio To Expend Last Allocation for Free Salk Vaccine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Final purchases from Ohio's allocation of federal funds for free polio vaccine are scheduled to be completed by April 15.

This was disclosed Friday by Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, who said that of the state's allotment of $2,100,000 for vaccine only enough remains for the purchase of 115,000 cubic centimeters.

When the April 15 orders are filled, the state will be out of the "free vaccine business," Dr. Dwork said. He added that he knows of no move in Washington to extend federal aid.

The department has distributed nearly three million c.c.'s of the vaccine throughout Ohio, he said.

In Washington, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said there is no cause for alarm because of the temporary shortage of Salk vaccine. Basil O'Connor, foundation president, said estimates indicate enough vaccine will be released between now and June 30 to provide two shots to all persons 40 and under who want them.

Sue for 10 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 10 million dollar damage suit has been filed against Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc., alleging it broke an agreement signed in 1950 with Commodore Productions involving exclusive Tarzan television rights. Commodore contends Burroughs, Inc., gave Sol Lesser Productions, Inc., the TV rights to Tarzan, although Commodore met the competitive bid.
